Lucky Woman Loses 57 Pounds of FAT in 12 Weeks

New Treatment Brings Amazing Loss of Weight and Improved Health Without Any Special Diet.

Suppose you weighed 257 lbs., and every time you looked in a mirror tears almost came as you gazed on a double chin, heavy arms and legs, large hips and bust.

And suppose this over-fat condition made you too heavy for your own feet—until you felt constantly all cramped out, stomach upset with gas and indigestion and dreadful dieting spells.

And then you tried one thing after another—and you're all ready to despair.

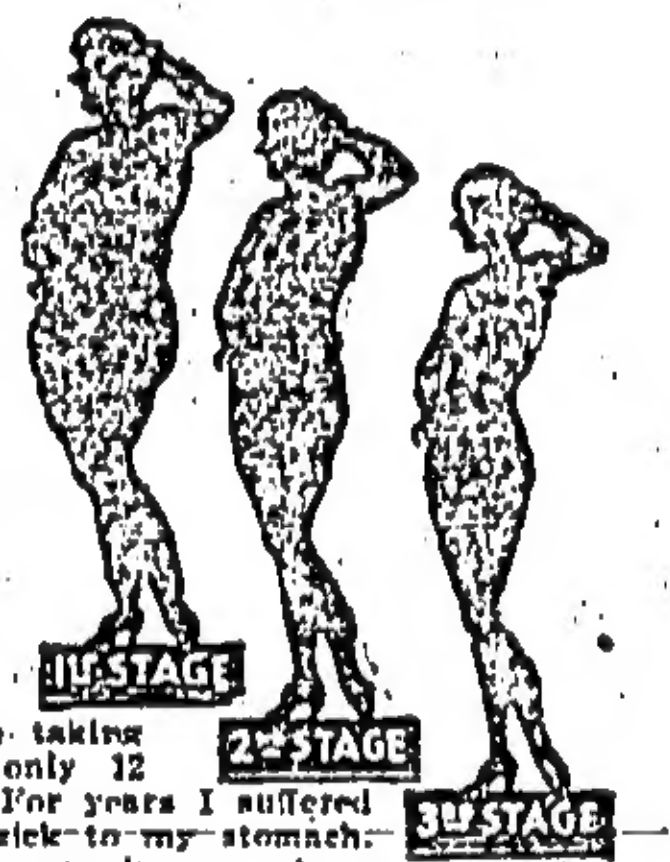

Such was the dilemma of Mrs. Mary Edwards, Flint, Michigan, U.S.A. She read about Bonkora, the one safe, natural way to take off excess poundage by cleansing wastes from the intestines and removing retained moisture from fatty tissues. But let her tell her story!

"You can't imagine how happy I am since taking Bonkora. I weighed 257 pounds. Now, after only 12 weeks, I am down to 200—a loss of 57 pounds. For years I suffered from sleepless nights, my head ached, my stomach was also troubled with constipation. All these annoying symptoms have disappeared and I feel, oh, so much lighter and full of pep. The most remarkable part of it all is that I have lost all this weight without dieting. I have recommended Bonkora to lots of my friends and they have gotten good results."

You may not want to lose 57 pounds in 12 weeks. But if you have excess fat you can lose it in the famous "easy stages," as shown in this picture.

For the next week, before meals, take a little Bonkora. The new treatment will quickly disappear and with it, blood, gas, and other stomach (ills). You'll feel younger, yes, you'll look younger with bright eyes, clear skin and superb figure which you dearly want.

500. M.P.H. ROCKET: DEATH FROM THE CLOUDS

TERROR MACHINE INVENTION

New York, Mar. 26. DEATH from the clouds, with explosive-laden, radio-controlled rocket crashing headlong into densely populated cities, has been visualized by inventors and military officials as a possible war time outgrowth of the mail rocket plane now being developed and almost ready for demonstration.

The 18-foot monoplane, driven at the terrific speed of 500 miles an hour, already has been tested successfully and amazed even its developers. A new fuel mixture of liquid oxygen, which reaches temperatures of 300 degrees below zero, creates the explosions which attain a heat of 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

The plane itself was designed by Prof. Alexander Klemin, director of the Guggenheim Institute of Aeronautics. The rocket motor was developed by Willy Ley, pioneer rocket builder who has given 97 rocket flight demonstrations, and Frido W. Kessler, president of the Rocket Airplane Corporation of America.

Show Take-Off

Outstanding difference between the new duralumin model and old rockets is its 35-miles-an-hour take-off and landing speed. Ten seconds after it is catapulted into the air, however, the rocket plane hurtles along at speeds ranging upwards of 500 miles an hour, or more than eight miles a minute. Rockets propelled by powder explosions leap away from the ground at their maximum speed and usually crash upon landing.

The fact that the rocket plane can be piloted by radio to land at a directed destination aroused wide comment as to its adaptability for war purposes. Loaded with solid explosive or poison gas, similar rockets could be flown across seas and mountains to annihilate armies and destroy cities thousands of miles away.

4,000 Degrees Heat

Chief hindrance at present, however, is the fact that the rocket plane will burn up if the motor is run more than three minutes. The extreme temperature of 4,000 degrees created by the explosions melts the ST-17 Duralumin walls like wax.

A special patented cooling agent which is poured into the fuel allows the motor to run up to about three minutes. This cooling agent is the sole reason why the rocket plane cannot be copied. An exact duplicate using the same fuel but without the cooling agent would burst into flames a few seconds after starting.

The first demonstration flight was planned to be without radio control. The rocket plane, loaded with mail, was to be aloft but 30 seconds and travel about 3 miles.

18 Ft. Wings

The rocket plane is 12 feet long with an 18 foot wing spread. The wing is 35 inches wide and the body measures 14 by 14 inches square. The mail compartment is in a shock proof nose. Three tanks are in the centre of the fuselage containing the following fuels and gases:

1. Liquid Oxygen.
2. Mixture of alcohol, gasoline, methanol and other liquids.
3. Compressed nitrogen. (Furnishing pressure to the other two tanks).

The liquids in the first two tanks are sprayed into a combustion chamber where they are ignited electrically. The resulting combustion is among the most violent explosions known and forms a gas thousands of times the original volume of the fuel.

New King Edward Stamps

HALF-LENGTH PORTRAIT

FOR the first time in history the postage stamps of Great Britain and Northern Ireland will carry a half-length portrait of the Sovereign in place of the customary profile pictures when the first stamps of King Edward VIII are issued at the end of this year.

It is understood that, by his own request, King Edward will appear on all stamps in naval uniform and barehead. The portrait will extend to the waist.

Ever since England's first adhesive stamp, the famous "penny black," was issued in May 1840 by Rowland Hill, the Sovereign has been represented by a head and neck portrait only.

Since the size of the new King Edward VIII stamps will remain the same, and the figure will be half-length, the features of the King will not be so large in the representation as those of past monarchs.

50,000,000 PEOPLE HAVE NEVER SEEN A TRAIN

For the first time in history a railway line is to be built in Szechwan, one of the richest provinces in China, with a total population of approximately 50,000,000.

Only a minute percentage of the men and women who make up that population figure have ever been outside their own province; the vast majority of them have never seen a train.

Previous attempts have been made to plan a track, but all of them so far have been hampered by local prejudice and financial obstacles.

Professional golfers expected that Mr. Ryder, who gave away thousands of pounds to the game during his life, would provide in his will for the endowment of the cup to pay the expenses of British teams.

But Mrs. Ryder said:—
I am afraid that I shall not be able to endow it.

"The smallness of the estate has come as rather a shock to me. It is considerably less than half a million. My husband gave away a small fortune to golf, the game he loved."

INVOLVED WILL

"The will is very involved, and at the moment I cannot say exactly what the estate is worth."

Mr. Ryder, seventy-seven-year-old seed "king," and head of Ryder and Son, St. Albans, died in London from pneumonia, on January 3.

The introduction of penny packets of seeds was the foundation on which he built his huge business. He was so fond of golf that when he was ill in 1933 he travelled to Southport with a nurse to see the match for his cup.

Abe Mitchell was his private professional.

Won £600: Goes To Prison Rather Than Pay Wife £100

RATHER than pay his wife £100 of over £300 owing in maintenance arrears, a Chandlers Ford, near Eastleigh (Hants), sweepstake winner has gone to Winchester Prison for three months.

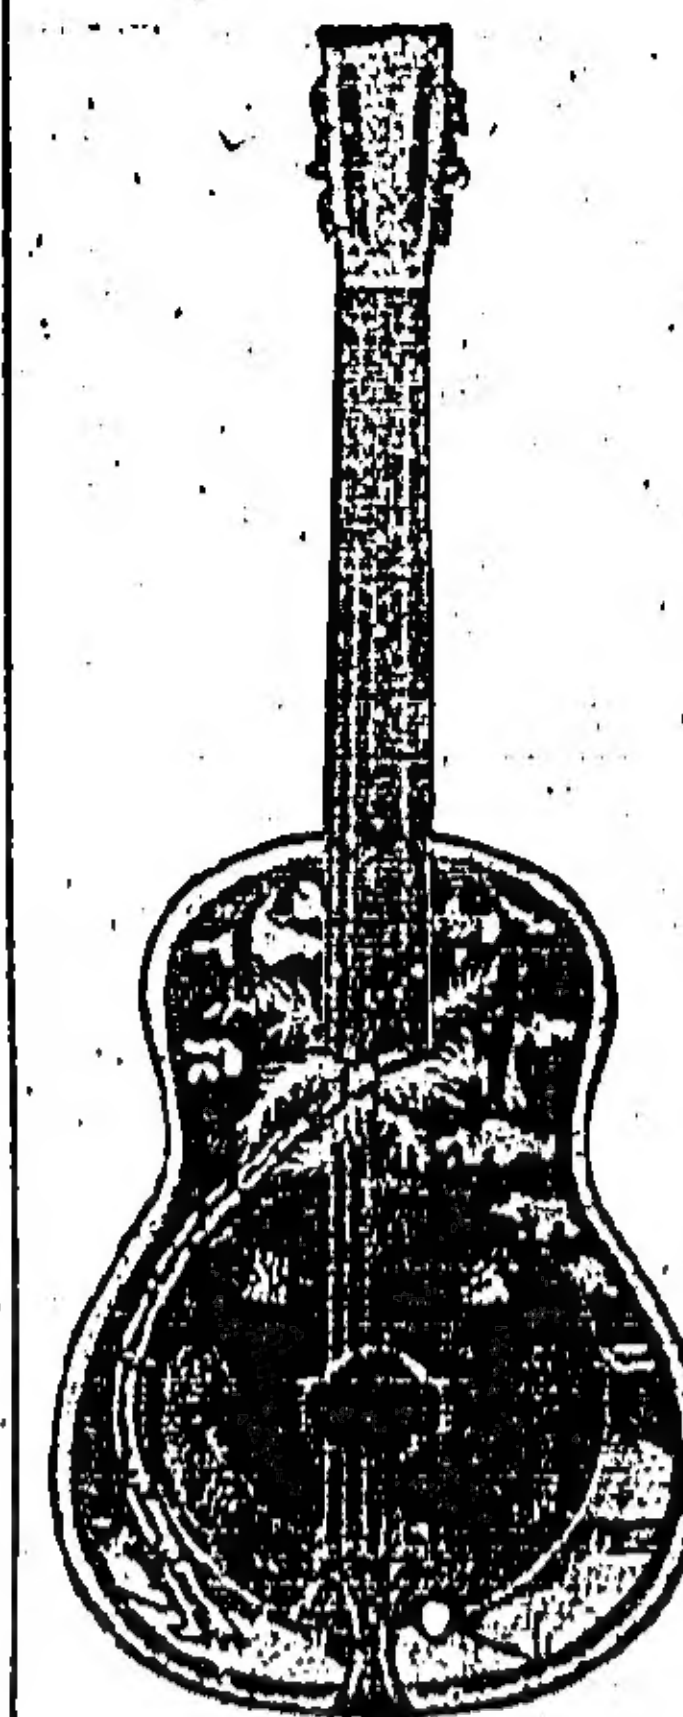

He is Arthur P. H. Davis, a cable layer, of Shaftesbury Avenue, Chandlers Ford. When he appeared at Eastleigh Police Court, it was stated that he had recently won £600 in the Irish sweepstake and had bought a motorcar for £30.

The order for payment under a separation order was made in 1929 and was for payment of £1 a week to his wife and 10s. a week for a child. Although Davis had paid the child's allowance regularly, it was stated that he had not paid a penny to the wife.

Davis said he had not done so because, he alleged, his wife had committed perjury saying that his income was greater than it was when the order was made.

The motorcar he had bought for his mother, who had since died. His income was 49s. a week. Davis was given the choice of paying £100 in seven days or of going to prison for three months.

THE KING'S VISIT TO GLASGOW'S SLUMS

CHATS TO WOMEN AND CHILDREN

"I Am Your King" Greeting to Blind Man

Glasgow, Mar. 21.

FROM the super-luxury of the world's biggest liner, the Queen Mary, King Edward has just concluded a tour of the tenement homes of some of Glasgow's poorest families.

Only this month he declared in his first broadcast to the Empire that he is still the same man he was as Prince of Wales. And to-day he proved it—in a way that will never be forgotten.

Unheralded and alone, he has stood in dimly-lit bedrooms questioning poverty-stricken housewives about their living conditions and their hardships; he has sought exact particulars about rent and unemployment pay, and has expressed great concern at the way in which some families are compelled to live.

His visits made all the deeper impression on him because he had just come from a long inspection of the Queen Mary at Clydebank.

For three hours he explored the ship from bridge to stokehold, and was particularly impressed with the liner's mechanical marvels.

During the inspection he expressed a wish to see the humorous drawings by Mr. Tom Webster, the Daily Mail cartoonist, which will form the principal decorations of the gymnasium. For several minutes he studied them, laughing heartily at those depicting golfers from the earliest days and cartoons of past and present-day boxers.

SEEING FOR HIMSELF

It was in a narrow court of old smoke-blackened buildings—Crichton-court, North-street, Anderston—that the King went to see for himself how the people lived.

Bare-headed and wearing a long black overcoat with astrakhan collar, he strode over the rough cobbles, stepping through pools of water, in a district which is generally regarded as perhaps the roughest in Glasgow.

To the surprise of women and children who rushed to the windows of dingy tenements he turned into a dark alley-way leading to one of the houses, followed by a few officials—and to their greater amazement he did not come out for half an hour.

During that half-hour he visited every one of eight tiny two-roomed dwellings in the three-floored building examined them carefully, and talked to the occupants.

A correspondent standing near the King as he went into several of the tiny flats saw him in many cases open a door and walk in after a polite "Can I come in?"

There was a very human incident at the first flat he entered. A woman was standing by the fire with a little boy at her side.

EIGHT IN TWO ROOMS

"Are you really the new King?" asked the little boy.

"Yes, I am the King," he answered, gravely bending down. The child was Charles Storr, the 5½-years-old son of Mrs. Storr, whose sister, Mrs. Thomas O'Rourke, lives in the flat with her husband, a shipworker, and two small boys.

A few minutes later, in a flat opposite, a cheerful-faced woman with spectacles and a mop of hair, Mrs. A. Gaddi, told how she lived in two small rooms with her husband and six children—two girls of 18 and 10, three girls of 17, 16, and 14, and a 2½-years-old baby girl Vera.

The King's distress was obvious. While he was talking to Mrs. Gaddi her baby girl was hiding behind her skirts, but the King brought a smile to her when he said, "Hullo, baby," and shook her by her hand.

"I AM YOUR KING"

No incident of the tour was more touching than the moment when he stepped into a flat and found himself face to face with a blind man.

"Who is there?" challenged the blind man, Mr. Hugh Queen. "I am your King," came the quiet reply.

The blind man's face lit up with a wondering joy, as he stretched out his hand and felt a firm grasp. The King asked gently how he had lost his sight, and Mr. Queen told how his eyes had been injured in a steel-works accident in 1901.

On a bed lay Mr. Queen's two-weeks-old son, and the King turned to the mother and said "What a fine child!"

Two other children live in the flat, and the King asked Mr. Queen "How do you all manage to live here?"

"We are doing our best till you manage to get a new home for us," came the reply. "I will do my best to help you," the King said.

In the next flat Mrs. Hugh Allen was playing ludo with a nephew, William Starr, when the King suddenly walked in. She was so taken aback that she burst into tears, but the King quickly restored her calmness by shaking hands.

'Earth' And 'Quake' Arrive

(QUETTA TWINS)

(IN BASKETS)

DON BEATS DAVID—BY A TOOTH

INTRODUCING: Master David and Master Donald Mackenzie, just arrived in London from Karachi, or, as they are called in their birthplace, "Earth" and "Quake"

The "Quetta" twins—as they are likely to be known—were born three months after the earthquake which last May devastated Quetta and took a death-toll of some thirty thousand lives.

Their mother, Mrs. Muriel Mackenzie—tall, graceful and good-looking brunette—went through the horrors of that terrible night of May 31. She was asleep when the first disturbance rocked the town. She was thrown into a chair. The town was plunged in darkness. In a back room was her four-year-old son, sleeping with a night-nurse.

Mrs. Mackenzie managed to stagger across the room to rescue her child. Each time the nurse lifted up the mosquito netting over the child's cot she was thrown back, and it was not until the earthquake was over that she was able to get the child out of the bungalow.

DIFFERENT BIRTHDAYS

Mrs. Mackenzie's husband is a staff captain on the Quetta station. He was out with the troops on manoeuvres, and it was not until the following day that he and his wife were reunited.

David and Donald were born in Karachi, three months after the earthquake.

Now they have come to London to spend a few months with their grandmother, Mrs. McIntyre, in Cricklewood-avenue, Streatham Hill, S.W.

It was here that I had the pleasure of making the acquaintance of the "Quetta" twins yesterday afternoon. They are the bonniest pair of five-months-olds you could meet. Both have blue eyes. David has fair, curly hair, while Donald has straight dark hair.

Twins they are, but they will have different birthdays. David's birthday is the seventh of September; his brother's the eighth of September. David was born at ten minutes to mid-night; his brother greeted the world ten minutes after mid-night.

But though David is really the elder, Donald is the first to cut a tooth. He did it while crossing the Red Sea!

The "Quetta" twins had quite a romantic journey to London. They travelled in baskets, and at every stopping-place they created tremendous interest.

TRAVELLED AS "LUGGAGE"

Said Mrs. Mackenzie, laughing heartily: "It was really amusing to see them put on the porters' trucks with the luggage, and wheeled to another train or boat."

It is Mrs. Mackenzie's sense of humour that has helped her forget the nightmare of Quetta. Sitting in her mother's pleasant drawing-room with her bonnie babies in her arms, she seemed ideally happy.

David seems endowed with his mother's good humour, finds something amusing in everything around him. He just laughs from the time he awakes till he slips off to slumber. Donald is more serious. He thought the fire in the drawing-room was so wonderful that he could not take his eyes off the leaping flames.

And Grandma McIntyre could not be prouder of the "Quetta" twins if they were her own!

When Time Will Count On Everest

BRIEF PERIOD FOR FINAL ASSAULT

The essential conditions for the success of the fifth organised attempt to scale the 29,002-foot peak of Mount Everest were explained last month by Mr. Eric Shipton, a member of Mr. Hugh Rutledge's expedition, whose advance party left for India recently.

Success or failure, he pointed out, depends largely on the time factor. Nature permits only a brief period during which conditions make possible an assault on the summit. The state of the weather round the top of Everest in the first fortnight in June will decide whether the mountain will at last be conquered this year.

"Some time before the end of May," said Mr. Shipton, "we expect to reach the top of North Col, where we shall place Camp Four, at a height of 23,000ft. For many months of the year terrific blizzards sweep over this region, but if we can get a period of comparative quiet between the winter weather conditions and the coming of the monsoon, we shall have an opportunity to reach the summit."

TERRIBLE BLIZZARDS

"So far as we have been able to ascertain, there are no insuperable difficulties in the final stage of the climb. This is providing that we do not encounter one of those terrible blizzards, against which it is hopeless to attempt to stand. Another danger lies in deep deposits of treacherous powder snow, which would inevitably cause a fatal accident. Any climber who lost footing at that part of the ascent would be plunged down an 8,000 ft. precipice."

The assault would be made, he added, by parties of two, in turn. No man who has recently made the attempt would have sufficient strength to try again.

TREACHEROUS SLOPE

Between Camp Seven and the summit the climbers will have to negotiate a treacherous slope, with crags overhanging each other, rather like the tiles of a roof, at an angle of 45 degrees. They will have to cross the Great Couloir, a gully of ice-bound rock, possibly covered with snow, which the climbers of the 1924 and 1933 expeditions failed to pass; and then, to reach the summit, they will have to fight their way across further rocky, dangerous slabs.

This tremendous task will have to be accomplished between sunrise and sunset on a single day, for no human being could live through a night in the open in that icy temperature.

Vancouver Moving Toward Free Port

Vancouver, B.C., Apr. 1. Establishment of a free trade zone at Staten Island in New York harbour has given fresh impetus to the movement to establish free port facilities at Vancouver.

Considerable interest in the New York experiment has been aroused in Ottawa, and the House of Commons may deal with the subject during the present session.

Halifax, on the Atlantic coast, has urged free port facilities for some time, but it is contended here that the re-export from Halifax would be almost negligible. There is believed to be more argument in favour of Vancouver, but here again the question of volume has been raised.

Too Perfect

MECHANICAL MAN THAT BECAME TOO HUMAN

IT SHOT ITS INVENTOR

San Diego, Mar. 24.

The career of Alpha, the mechanical man, has been turned to activities other than that of an expert marksman following the single target shooting match in which he fired one shot, scored a bull's-eye and hung up a lifetime record of 1,000 per cent.

The bull's-eye was off the head of "professor" Harold May, the "radio robot" creator, who left his bed, his head swathed in bandages and a monkey wrench in hand, to dismember the gadget that makes Alpha shoot.

"It's the second time I've made the mistake of teaching Alpha to do something he can do better than I can," May explained. "I once tried to teach him to box, and it took half an hour to revive me."

The professor was formerly connected with the University of London Physics Department, and claims to have invented a type of armoured tank used by the British during the world war.

Alpha is his greatest creation. He—or it—smokes, sits down, stands up, says good morning, turns on lights and winks at pretty girls.

Pistol shooting was its nearest trick, up until May was wounded. Previous performances were with blank cartridges. May exclaims "Shoot!" and Alpha fires at the place where the order came from. Once, according to May, a man in the audience yelled, "Shoot!" and Alpha fired a bullet-waddling hitting the spectator between the eyes.

Apparently by accident, Alpha's gun was loaded with a real bullet, but luckily his aim was a bit awry. The lead slug crensed the inventor's head.

The steel and chromium monster weighs 2,400 pounds, stands 10 feet in his steel shod feet, and is a maze of mechanical gadgets inside, operated by radio which enables May to cause movements with verbal orders.

The tall, green-eyed monster, looks like a medieval knight, and his chest, when you open a tiny door over his heart, glows with radio tubes. He was "presented" before the late King George V and Queen Mary of England in 1932.

Meanwhile, May is working on a heavily guarded laboratory at the Pacific International exposition, on his latest trinket—a "death ray." He claims the ray when perfected will destroy flies and insect pests, make airplane motors stop in mid-air and be strong enough to kill.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

MARKET UPWARD YESTERDAY

New York, April 6.
Swan, Culbertson & Fritz Dow Jones Summary of yesterday's market. The market was irregularly higher. Steel and automobile issues touched a new high level for the past five years before they lost portions of their gains on profit-taking later in the session. Utility stocks were given a whirl advance. Copper issues performed well. Farm implements and mercantile advanced, whilst railroad and oil stocks were up fractionally. The magazine STEEL, estimated mill operations at 64.5 per cent. of capacity, an increase of 2.5 per cent. Mr. Myron Taylor, at the annual meeting of the United States Steel Corporation to-day, said that no immediate action was contemplated in clearing-up arrears. The market for bonds was higher. Stocks on the Curb Exchange were quietly irregular.
Swan, Culbertson & Fritz Wall Street Journal comment on 4/4 market.—"Due firstly to the high price of newly-mined domestic silver and secondly to the rapid acceleration of production, United States silver producers are now getting the highest income for over a decade. The output has increased so sharply that the United States threatens to challenge Mexico as a major producer of the white metal. A recovery in railroad traffic is at present indicated. The market's near-term trend is greatly aided by the manner in which the foreign threats are dissolved. Brokers anticipate a wider demand for oil shares this week. Carrier fans are bullish, favouring Aichison and New York Central issues. Many investors are buying General Motor securities.

S. C. & F. New York office cables: Stocks: The market was featured by the continued strength of steel and automobile shares. The general tone is mixed on light and scattered realising. Woolworth sales during March were off 3.9 per cent. The Alaska Juneau Mining Company's earnings in March totalled $210,000, against $241,000 in March last year. The 7 times business index for the past week is 93.8, against 91.5 the previous week.
Cotton: The Government plans to sell 1,000,000 bales to September 1st, at 11 1/2 cent limit on the 12-cent loan and 10 1/2 cent limit on the 11-cent loan, leaving new-crop cotton subject to growing conditions and a late start. We think this will attract hedges of nears and narrow the differences. The total Brazilian crop is estimated at 1,745,000 bales.
Wheat: There was some covering by shorts, with no material drought relief in evidence. The outlook, otherwise, is good and the possibility of the export basis is an increasing market factor. The visible supply shows a decrease of 1,784,000 bushels. The Canadian visible supply shows an increase of 763,000 bushels.

Rubber: Buyers and sellers are apart in their price ideas. Offerings were on the light side. The English stock of rubber has decreased by 1,342 tons. The Dutch export duty has been increased by one cent. The market is firm.

HAROLD LLOYD in "THE MILKY WAY"

CINEMA NOTES

Dolores Del Rio, exotic Warner Bros. star, was the recipient of two dozen gardenias every day during the production of "I Live for Love," opening to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre. She introduced the latest of styles to the screen—that of wearing fresh flowers (in this case gardenias) as a hair ornament. Hollywood debutantes have taken up the fad in earnest. Designed especially for her by Dave Westmore, Warner Bros. make-up artist, Dolores' coiffure consists of a centre part the night-hued hair brushed shiningly down into a cluster of light curls at the back. Just above the ears, the tips of which are bare, she places two real gardenias on each side. The hot studio lights curled up the delicate white edges, leaving them brown. So, at intervals during the work, Dolores changed the flowers. In "I Live for Love," Miss Del Rio plays the part of a temperamental South American prima donna. The picture is a gay comedy-romance with a glamorous musical background of theatre and radio, catchy songs having been written by Wrubel and Dixon. Everett Marshall, grand opera star, is co-starred. Miss Del Rio.

"Kenderson," from Lillian Russell's bustles to an enchanting international spy was the long stride that Binnie Barnes took for her latest picture role. Miss Barnes was selected for the important role of Olivia, entrancing woman-spy, in "Kenderson," now at the Alhambra Theatre. The unusual film story is based upon Major Herbert O. Yardley's experiences as organizer and former head of the famous American Black Chamber. William Powell is starred in the picture as the young cross-country puzzle editor who becomes the nemesis of enemy spies through his genius in counter-espionage work. Rosalind Russell plays the feminine lead opposite Powell. Binnie Barnes, London-born, was brought to Hollywood following her excellent performance as one of the wives of "Henry the Eighth." Her most recent role was that portraying Lillian Russell in "Diamond Jim Brady."

A crazy quilt of languages and dialects, contributes to the colour and hilarity of the scintillating new Jane Withers picture, "Paddy O'Day," which comes on Wednesday to the King's Theatre. Jane Withers, charming little Georgian who heads the cast of the new picture, spent several weeks transforming a native Southern accent into a faultless Gaelic brogue. In the supporting cast is Pinky Tomlin, songwriter and actor. He is a native Oklahoman and has been permitted to retain his natural, pleasant drawl for the picture. Rita Cansino, of Irish and Spanish ancestry, fills the role of Muscovite Miss and goes Russian all the way. And finally there is George Glvot, Greek ambassador of radio fame, who reads the air with his fly-paper English. Directed by Lewis Seiler, the new picture reveals the heart-warming adventures of little Irish girl in the strange land of New York. A bevy of brand new tunes, headed by "Keep

That Twinkle in Your Eye", and "Changing My Ambitions" are prominent features of the entertainment.

"Sweet Music"
Rudy Vallee, world famous radio crooner, comes to the Oriental Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday in the latest and most pretentious Warner Bros. mammoth musical, "Sweet Music." Vallee will be heard in a half dozen catchy songs written especially for the production. Ann Dvorak also sings and dances in spectacular numbers. Still another songbird who will be heard in the picture is Helen Morgan, famous torch singer who made such a hit in "Show Boat". Rudy Vallee's Connecticut Yankees appear in the picture as does the Frank and Milt Britton Band which will dispense red hot tunes. The picture, which carries a definite plot, is filled with romance, drama, and hilarious comedy. It is the story of a young college boy who organizes a band and makes good as crooner and orchestra leader in the big night clubs and over the radio. There is a large and talented cast including Benjamin Stoddard, with Miss Dvorak as his leading lady. Helen Morgan plays herself, a blues singer, while others include Ned Sparks, Robert Armstrong, Allen Jenkins, Alice White, Joseph Cawthorn, Al Shean, Phillip Hanks, and William B. Davidson. Russell Hicks and Addison Richards. Scores of beautiful girls are seen in the dance numbers and spectacular ensembles.

"Transatlantic Merry-Go-Round"
"Transatlantic Merry-Go-Round," Reliance's sparkling new comedy directed with melody, mystery and romance, staged aboard a palatial ocean liner, comes to the Star Theatre to-day for one day only. A great cast of screen and radio stars, headed by Jack Benny, Nancy Carroll and Gene Raymond is seen in this Harry M. Goetz-Edward Small production, which Benjamin Stoddard directed for release through United Artists. Benny is seen as a genial master of ceremonies, broadcasting from the high seas, while Nancy plays Sally Marsh, the star of his troupe, and Raymond is seen as a young lad who falls in love with her. Among the famous screen and radio personalities who take part in Benny's broadcasts are Milti Green, in her first grownup role; Frank Parker, the Boswell Sisters, Patsy Kelly, Jean Sargent and Jimmy Grier and his orchestra. Benny's famous satire, "Grind Hotel," is a high point of the programme.

"Hands Across the Table"
Beautiful Miss Carole Lombard and charming Fred MacMurray are featured in Paramount's latest comedy-romance, "Hands Across the Table," adapted from the original story, "Bracelets" by Vina Delmar, closing to-day at the Queen's Theatre. A sprightly fun feast of a working girl's everyday life, "Hands Across the Table," pictures the adventures of a girl who falls in love with a man who is a playboy at her modest apartment when he misses his boat to Bermuda, sent on the trip, expenses paid, by

YOUR REAL SELF—
BUT HOW DIFFERENT!

Transform your appearance in one minute! What is the secret charm of so many beautiful women? Isn't it nearly always just colour, natural radiant colour which makes them stand out, attractive and lovely. You can possess that charm! Blondes and brunettes, fair skins and dark are all transformed by Khasana Blush Cream. Just rub a little of the orange tinted cream on to your cheeks and see how it takes on the colour which is your own, making you more attractive than ever before. Then give the final touches to your new charm with Khasana Lipstick, which, like the cream, is absolutely kiss- and water-proof. There is no question of looking 'made-up', for it is your own natural colour which is revealed and emphasised.

his wealthy future father-in-law. The two make a bargain to carry out their single purpose. Directed by Mitchell Leisen, the cast includes Ralph Bellamy, Astrid Allwyn and Marie Prevost. An hilarious finale brings the couple to their senses and the realization of their own love, after a series of many sparkling, laugh provoking sequences.

"Strike Me Pink"
Eddie Cantor keeps King's Theatre audiences in gales of laughter as the pathetic little product of a correspondence course in dominant personality development in "Strike Me Pink," his new Samuel Goldwyn screen musical in which he is supported by Ethel Merman, Sally Eilers, Parkyarkus, his "Greek" stooge of radio fame, William Frawley and a gorgeous new crop of Goldwyn Girls. Parkyarkus is a real screen find and Moss Merman, Sally Eilers and William Frawley lend Cantor superb support. Handsomely mounted and studded with sidesplitting gags and some swell song hits by the team of Harold Arlen, and Lew Brown, "Strike Me Pink" is a riot of fun that moves at roller coaster speed. It's Cantor at his hilarious best and that's plenty funny.

STAFF TALKS

The General Staffs of Britain, France and Belgium are to meet in London to-morrow to engage in conversations connected with the situation arising from German re-occupation of the Rhineland. In this matter, Britain has been placed in a somewhat unenviable position. On the one side, we have Germany suggesting that such talks, at the present juncture, will not help to compose the situation; on the other, it is clear that France desires Britain to go to much greater lengths than the Baldwin Government deems necessary. The point which must be kept uppermost, and which appears to need reiteration, is that the proposed British guarantees are aimed at ensuring the security of France and Belgium only in the event of unprovoked aggression, and, what is more, that they will only operate if the present conciliation efforts, in which Britain is exerting all her influence, should fail. German objection to the talks was answered a few days ago by Mr. Eden, when he explained that the arrangements envisaged would only operate should Germany attack France or Belgium, and, as Germany has herself excluded such a contingency, reasons for objection automatically fall to the ground. Reports are current, however, that the French delegation to the London talks intend demanding that Germany should be warned, under threat of joint action, that re-fortification of the Rhineland will not be tolerated. Should such a stand be taken, it is much to be doubted whether Britain would agree to any such course. Ever since the talks were first mentioned, the British Government has taken the line that they should be closely defined in their scope. Moreover, Mr. Eden has definitely assured the House of Commons, that, being solely for the purpose of the Locarno Treaty, the conversations cannot increase or affect political undertakings or any obligations as regards defence organisations between the parties concerned. Political issues are, in fact, specifically excluded from the talks, and even on military matters the General Staffs will consider only technical points approved beforehand by the various Cabinets. Britain's

WHERE WE COME IN

These are the British signatures to the Treaty of Versailles of which the Demilitarised
Rhineland Zone formed an integral part.
Is it, after all, a Scrap of Paper?

I. Breaking Versailles
and Locarno

The demilitarised zone, which was reoccupied by German troops on Saturday, was set up by Articles 42-43 of the Treaty of Versailles. These articles forbid Germany to maintain troops or construct fortifications anywhere to the west of the Rhine or within 50 kilometres to the east of the river. These Articles were reaffirmed in the Locarno Treaty. This treaty was not forced upon Germany, but freely negotiated and concluded by Dr. Stresemann, with M. Briand, Sir Austen Chamberlain and Signor Mussolini, on Oct. 16, 1925.

NOTES OF THE DAY

TWO MILES OF DOGS

Of the many dog shows that are organised in Great Britain "Crufts" is the largest and the most important. This year was its Golden Jubilee, and it celebrated its fiftieth birthday by attracting a record entry of 10,650, thus outstripping by several thousands every other dog show in the world. The exhibit occupied two miles of benches. This is not surprising in view of the fact that the English people's proverbial love of dogs continues to grow year by year. Last year no fewer than three and a half million dog licences were issued to the British public. Allowing for sheep dogs and others for which no licence is required, there must thus be nearly four million dogs in the country. There is at the same time a steady increase of public interest in pedigree dogs. During the past quarter of a century this desire for pedigree animals has made giant strides. In 1910 there were registered at the Kennel Club 18,910 dogs; last year there were no less than 58,799. To-day the Kennel Club recognises 92 breeds, whereas in 1885 it acknowledged only 45. Last year the Club controlled 1,288 shows; fifty years ago it regulated only 52. The Kennel Club has a splendid record in every field where dogs are concerned. It has initiated many measures of reform and development in dog-breeding and dog-keeping; and its enterprise and watchfulness where the well-being of dogs is concerned are beyond all praise. Its authority is implicitly accepted by everyone concerned with the dog industry, and its prestige and powers are unchallenged and indisputable.

obligations under the Locarno Treaty are quite clear and unambiguous, in which connection it is well to bear in mind that military assistance to any nation is made dependent on any overt act being found to come within the category of unprovoked aggression. Whilst the staff talks may have some value in reassuring France and Belgium that Britain is fully conscious of her obligations, and intends to abide by them, it is obvious that neither the British Government nor British public opinion is disposed to increase these obligations. A general recognition of this point seems desirable at this juncture.

Herr Hitler himself has also accepted the obligations of Locarno. In the Reichstag, Jan. 30, 1934, he said:

This question (i.e., the question of the Saar) is the only one concerning territory which is still open between the two nations (i.e., France and Germany). After it has been settled the German Government is ready to accept not only the letter but also the spirit of the Locarno Pact, for then there will be no other territorial question at stake between France and Germany.

The Saar question was settled to the satisfaction of both Powers after the Plebiscite in January, 1935.

Article 1 of the Locarno Treaty reads as follows:

The high contracting parties collectively and severally guarantee the maintenance of the territorial status quo resulting from the frontiers between Germany and Belgium and between Germany and France and the inviolability of the said frontiers as fixed by or in pursuance of the Treaty of Peace signed at Versailles on June 28, 1919, and also the observance of the stipulations of Articles 42 and 43 of the said Treaty concerning the demilitarised zone.

This is not the only Article of the Locarno Treaty that Herr Hitler's action violates. Article 3 says that Germany and Belgium, and Germany and France, "undertake to settle by peaceful means and in the manner laid down herein all questions of every kind which may arise between them and which it may not be possible to settle by the normal methods of diplomacy." The "manner laid down herein" is defined in the Arbitration Convention as reference, either to a Permanent Conciliation Commission set up for the purpose, or to arbitration, or to the Permanent Court of International Justice.

Herr Hitler alleges as his justification for breaking the Locarno Treaty that the Franco-Russian Pact of Mutual Assistance, signed in May last year and now on the point of ratification by France, is a contravention of the Locarno Treaty.

Apart from the question whether the conclusion by France of a Pact in contravention of Locarno would justify Germany denouncing the whole Treaty, there is no clear incompatibility between Locarno and the Franco-Russian Pact.

In the Pact, France and Russia pledge one another assistance if either is attacked by another European Power. But the assistance is only to be given under procedure laid down in the League Covenant. In any case, France has offered to submit to The Hague Court the question whether or not the Pact is compatible with Locarno. The British Government have already expressed their opinion that it is compatible.

Thus Germany has broken both the Treaty of Versailles and the Locarno Treaty. She has sent troops into the demilitarised zone in defiance of Article 43 of Versailles and she has failed to submit a dispute to conciliation or arbitration in breach of Article 3 of Locarno.

II. What Are

Our Obligations?

The question therefore arises, What are the rights and duties of the other signatories of Locarno, especially of France and Great Britain?

France may claim she now has the right to invade Germany. In the Locarno Treaty she undertook not to attack or invade Germany except in "the exercise of the right of legitimate defence; that is to say, resistance to . . . a flagrant breach of Articles 42 or 43 of the Treaty of Versailles; if such breach constitutes an unprovoked act of aggression and by the assembly of armed forces in the demilitarised zone immediate action is necessary."

In Article 10 of the Covenant of the League France bound herself to respect the territorial integrity only of other members of the League, of whom Germany is no longer one. France could therefore make out a strong legal case for her right to invade Germany, on the one condition that Hitler's action of Saturday is accepted as being "an unprovoked act of aggression" and as making "immediate action" necessary. None of the treaties helps in defining these words.

What are Great Britain's obligations under the Locarno Treaty? Here is Sir John Simon, as Foreign Secretary, in Parliament on Nov. 7, 1933:

Our obligations may be summarised under four heads. First, if the Council of the League finds that a violation of the undertaking not to go to war against each other contained in Article 2 has been committed by Germany, France or Belgium, we are bound immediately to go to the assistance of the Power against whom the act complained of is directed. I observe that it is the Council of the League that has to make that finding, and in that case, as we are a permanent member of the council, our assent is necessary to any finding.

Secondly, if the Council finds that a breach of Articles 42 and 43 of the Treaty of Versailles . . . has been committed, we are bound to go immediately to the assistance of France or Belgium, as the case may be. There again our assent is necessary to the finding of the Council.

Thirdly, in the event of what is called a flagrant violation of one or other of the above undertakings, which really means in the case of something happening so much in a hurry that you could not call a meeting of the Council of the League, we are bound immediately to go to the help of the injured party, if we are satisfied that the violation constitutes an unprovoked act of aggression and that immediate action is necessary. In this case we are the sole judges as to whether our obligation is applicable.

Fourthly and lastly, if either France, Belgium or Germany refuses to submit a dispute to peaceful settlement or to comply with arbitral or judicial decisions, we are bound to comply with any proposals which the Council may make as to the steps to be taken. In that case our assent is necessary to any and every proposal that the Council may make.

The present case seems to be an instance of Sir John Simon's third contingency. If Britain decides that Hitler's action is "an unprovoked act of aggression" and that the presence of German troops in the Rhineland makes "immediate action" necessary, then we are bound to go to the help of France and Belgium.

III. "Going to the Help"

The next question is, What does "go to the help" of France and Belgium mean? If war had broken out, the answer would be obvious. We should be bound to fight on the side of the French and the Belgians. But war has not broken out. What is our position now?

There can be no question of sanctions such as are being applied against Italy. The only mention of "sanctions" is in Article 16 of the Covenant of the League of Nations, and the very first words of that Article are "Should any member of the League resort to war in disregard of its covenants. . . . Germany is not a member of the League, and she has not resorted to war."

Some guidance can be found in the Note addressed to the French Government by Sir Samuel Hoare last September. The French Government had asked to what extent they could be assured "of the immediate and effective application by this country of all the sanctions provided in Article 16 of the Covenant."

In his reply Sir Samuel Hoare made the point that the application of sanctions under Article 16 might be appropriate "as regards a positive act of unprovoked aggression," but not in the case of "the negative act of failure to fulfil the terms of a treaty." Thus the British Government apparently does not regard the failure to observe a treaty as an unprovoked act of aggression, and (under Article 4 of Locarno) we are only bound to help France and Belgium if there has been unprovoked aggression.

IV. Summary

The long and short of the whole matter, thus appears to be:

1. Germany has undoubtedly committed a flagrant breach of the Locarno Treaty.
2. Great Britain is not in any case compelled to do anything except by her own consent.
3. We have undertaken to come to the assistance of France and Belgium if in our opinion there has been an unprovoked act of aggression.
4. The British Government apparently does not regard "the negative act of the failure to fulfil the terms of a treaty" as an unprovoked act of aggression.

TRAGIC CHILDREN OF CONDEMNED NURSE

Playing on Grandpa's Farm Unaware of Mother's Death Sentence

SULLIVAN'S FIVE MONTHS OF TORTURE

Hucknall (Notts.), Apr. 1.
THREE happy children are enjoying a carefree holiday on their grandparents' lonely farm near here, unaware that their mother is in prison under sentence of death.

They are the children of Nurse Dorothea Waddingham, who was convicted at Nottingham Assizes of the murder of Miss Ada Baguley by morphine poisoning. Miss Baguley was a patient at Nurse Waddingham's nursing home in Devonshire, Sherwood, Nottingham.

The children, Edwin, aged nine, Allan, aged seven, and Mary, aged three, have been told that their mother is in hospital.

But while they, with childish delight, feed the cows and pigs and poultry, and ride in wagons, a grey-haired man and woman watch them with tear-filled eyes.

The kiddies are their grandparents. The condemned woman is their daughter.

"We have suffered."

"The children are very happy here," Nurse Waddingham's father said today.

"While this case has been on, they have been kept from school, but soon they will have to go back. However much we try to prevent them hearing about the trial, they are bound to do so sooner or later."

"We have suffered a lot, but the thought of what unhappiness the news may mean to these kiddies upsets us terribly."

Nurse Waddingham was strongly recommended to mercy by the jury. Mr. R. A. Young, her solicitor, decided to appeal on her behalf.

Leave to appeal was granted and the date of the execution will be automatically postponed until three weeks after the hearing of the appeal.

Nurse Waddingham has two other children. Ronald, eighteen months old, is in a home at Baythorpe, and her four-month-old girl is in the care of a foster-mother.

"My daughter's baby was not born when this terrible business began," Mr. Waddingham declared. "Women will appreciate what that meant."

And later, when the inquest was on, she was nursing this baby and looking after Ronald.

"How she bore it all is beyond me. I am sure she is not guilty of this thing."

Mr. Waddingham then paid a tribute to Ronald Joseph Sullivan, who was associated with Nurse Waddingham in running the nursing home and was charged jointly with her and acquitted.

"Sullivan has had five months of hell and has now gone away broken in health," he said.

"Ever since Miss Baguley's death in September he has gone through an agony of suspense. He felt all the time that he was under a cloud, yet he knew, of course, that he was completely innocent."

"Then came the long ordeal of the inquest with its verdict of 'murder,' and another interval until the police court proceedings opened in the middle of February. Then the 'long trial' which was again largely a repetition of the evidence which had been given twice before."

"Small wonder that he is broken down in health."

"Throughout he has done his utmost to comfort my daughter, and before he went away he told us that he would not rest until everything humanly possible had been done to save her from the death penalty."

First Man To Discover America

Rogina, Canada, Apr. 1.

So far as one Canadian province is concerned, Christopher Columbus was not the first man to discover America. A "Lief Ericsson Day" in honour of the Norse explorer, has been proclaimed in Saskatchewan for October 9.

This is supposed to be the day that Ericsson first landed on American soil somewhere about the year 1,000 A.D. Saskatchewan is the first Canadian province to take such action but there will also be a "Lief Ericsson Day" in the United States marked by church services and school celebrations.

The Norse sagas say that Ericsson, son of Eric the Red, sailed westward with 35 men. He is believed to have touched first at Newfoundland and then sailed to Nova Scotia, which he named Woodland. He is supposed to have stayed in Nova Scotia two years from 1,002 to 1,004 A.D.

He Lost His Trousers

Berlin, Apr. 1.

A Swiss crossed Lake Constance into Germany to buy a suit because by using registered marks it was cheaper than he could have bought it in his home town.

His difficulty was to get the new suit smuggled through the Swiss Customs.

He resolved to return by the night boat and throw the old suit into the lake.

He did, but he threw the trousers of the new suit overboard as well and had to land trousersless.—Reuter.

TELEVISION IN JULY

London, Mar. 26.

JULY 1 is the provisional opening date of the B.B.C.'s Alexandra Palace television station.

The last stages of construction have been reached and the delicate operation of fixing the 215ft. mast on the summit of the rebuilt 84ft. brick tower is about to begin.

During May and June testing on both sound and vision is expected to be in full swing from the Alexandra Palace.

"My daughter's baby was not born when this terrible business began," Mr. Waddingham declared. "Women will appreciate what that meant."

And later, when the inquest was on, she was nursing this baby and looking after Ronald.

Killer Scares Girls, Escapes Into Forest

Paris, Apr. 1.
STEFANO ZAIMIS, Bandit of the Maures (S.E. France), who took to the forests after killing a gendarme at Sainte Maxime, has slipped through the hands of the police again.

By goat paths he made his way to two Var villages of Le May and Les Arcs, where Riviera-bound trains often stop to take on water.

Waiting until darkness, he slipped through the police net into the village.

Suddenly appearing in a cafe, he demanded a bottle of wine. The landlord, recognising him, was so terrified that he held out the bottle and never asked for payment, being only too happy to see the man's back.

Police Cordon

He took a loaf from a shop in the same way. Meanwhile police surrounded the village.

But Zaimis escaped them, and encountering two girls picking mimosa in a field he levelled his revolver at them, chased them away and dashed back to his forest hiding place.—Reuter.

A SURFEIT OF RUNS AND PLENTY OF FUN

LOSE GALLANTLY LO BROTHERS
FINCHER & HUNG PULL THROUGH
M.W. IN FORM

(By "Veritas")

W. C. HUNG

When after the open doubles semi-final match on the stand court yesterday Teddy Fincher complained that he had been unable to see the ball one could find it easy to accept this as a reasonable excuse for his comparatively unimpressive form. General conditions, in fact, were so wretched and depressing that one not only felt sorry for the players, but at the same time realised how extremely well they had performed.

As generally anticipated Fincher and W. C. Hung beat M. K. and M. W. Lo in straight sets of 6-4, 7-5, 6-2. Yet the honours went to the losers, whose defeat was one of the most honourable ever seen in the Colony championships. Behind the losers every stroke and movement lay the insidious reminder that they had to conserve their stamina. It became a coercive brake on their natural desire to force the exchanges, so that seldom were they able to go wholeheartedly into the attack.

MASTERLY DEFENCE

Their greatest lay in their masterly defensive tennis, masterly in its cunning and accuracy which continually converted losing positions into winning points. M. W. Lo was the most entertaining of the four players, his remarkably quick eye and fine sense of anticipation permitting him to pick up smashes and fast volleys and make good returns. His driving, apart from the normal lapses which must occur over three hard sets, was severe and penetrating. It searched out the weak spots in the winners' volleying, luring them into false strokes. Realising that against such a netting pair as Fincher and Hung the one-up-one-back tactics employed with success against Kong and Lai would be suicidal, the Lo brothers accordingly changed their methods, and as far as possible played the square formation. This, of course, entailed extra physical effort and it was during the long rallies, especially as the opposition concentrated as far as possible on him, and made him cover a tremendous amount of territory.

M. K. Lo showed a grand fighting spirit, and although weak on the volley was steady off the ground, getting fine oblique angles on his cross-court drives, and generally speaking obtaining effective length on his lob.

UNLUCKY BROTHERS

The losers had such a fine spell in the opening of the second set that they went to 4-1 and looked good for the stanza. Then, in the sixth game (Continued on Page 9.)

PAUL KONG PLAYS RUMJAHN

4.30 To-Day

(By "Veritas")

Unless Paul Kong pulls something very unexpected out of the bag, this afternoon should see S. A. Rumjahn reach the semi-final of the open singles championship. One must concede this in Kong's favour; he is infinitely a better singles than a doubles player. Furthermore it is well to bear in mind that once upon a time he was good enough to represent China in the Davis Cup and was recognised as one of the best three players in Shanghai.

Now that they have rid themselves of the doubles championship burden, both Rumjahn can concentrate on the singles. Sirdar will do his utmost to-day to win in two sets because the oppressive weather is not conducive to pleasurable lengthy matches; and Kong will have to strike some very good form to stop him.

G. O. ALLEN IS FIT

During the past 12 months, G. O. Allen has frequently been mentioned as the probable captain of the team to Australia this year, provided, of course, he is fit.

It is interesting, therefore, to note that he will soon commence practice at Alan Fairfax's cricket school. Allen told Fairfax that he is convinced that he has recovered from the leg trouble which has interfered with his cricket, and he is most anxious to make the trip to Australia.

Dropped Catch Cost Army Valuable League Point

NAVY CRICKET TALENT

(By R. Abbit)

During Saturday and Sunday last I saw more amusing and bright cricket than I have done for ages. It started off with the first league game at King's Park where the Navy were very unfortunate to have a couple of their best batsmen away, as Branwell was on duty and Bartley sick.

The Army batted first and Persse, who now has assumed the position of opening batsman with Bill Williams, made 28 of the 33 runs scored for the first wicket. Actually I gather he made 32 of them, but things got a bit mixed. Dawson then joined Williams and 25 runs were put on before the latter got in front of one from Hargreaves, which straightened up.

Dawson had been going quietly along and, with Garthwaite in, another 28 were put on before he was bowled by Hunting. Then came the stand of the innings when Colonel Lightfoot, an old friend of ours, who played for the Colony in (I think) 1927, joined Garthwaite and helped put on 70 runs most of which the latter got. He was a bit slow, considering the state of the game, but Lightfoot braked up a lot and played a most useful innings.

Incidentally, I was considerably amused to see him playing for the Army in a league game, after playing a league game for the Club on the Saturday before. I mention this merely in jest as nobody cared a bit and anyway he could, of course, have got the necessary permission from the League under the circumstances. But, as he somewhat cheerfully remarked when I pointed out the anomaly of his offence, he had not the slightest idea that either of these delectable games was a league match! He is of course an Army player and only turned out for the Club owing to their great difficulty in raising a side.

A BIG TASK

But to resume, Welch held on rather long, I think, to take the score to 208 for seven wickets—the runs had been made in almost exactly two hours but no doubt he was influenced by the fact that there was an extra quarter of an hour for play—the game taking place in April. He declared at 420 and the Navy should have had just two hours batting but the superior attraction of tea—1 pressure—made the interval last seven minutes too long. The Navy thus had one hour and fifty-three minutes to score 209 runs. A not impossible but extremely difficult task, even if Ballard was no longer in the Army side, for the ground is a very hot one, though admittedly on Saturday the ball travelled very fast on it.

THE NAVY BAT

The innings was opened by Eng. Com. Davis and Lt. Davis (I understand they are no relation) and they seemed to be settling down nicely against the bowling of Garthwaite and Corp. Whitehead. Garthwaite was obviously winning, having the benefit of a third-man wind, and Whitehead was bringing them back from the off.

In Garthwaite's first over Lt. Davis was very nearly caught at square leg, and in his fourth over the Engineer Commander got a nasty smack on his glove which went up behind where second slip would have been if he had not been at fine leg! Again no one seemed able to get to it, and owing to the fore-shortened view of what happened when one looked from the Pavilion end, it is difficult to say whether it should or should not have been caught.

In Whitehead's next over he at last managed to get in a really good length ball which turned in a good bit and bowled the Engineer. (Really it is most awkward having two people of the same name in). I think he might have smothered it had he come out at it, because it was definitely not short of a length and with his reach he might have smothered it. (20-1-0).

At this period it was misting damply and was heavily cold. Nothing but the presence of about five feet of ongoing dachshund (I know I can't spell it but sure is a pal of mine anyway) belonging to Garthwaite saved one poor sailor from getting frost-bitten knees.

A BAD BUSINESS

Just after Garthwaite who was having no luck, (even if his dog was) had Davis badly dropped at square leg. I do not think I am being unfair to the Navy when I say that the match was lost when that chance went a-begging.

Of course, as usual, Davis could do nothing wrong after that, and he really played an excellent knock. It is rather tragic that it is only at the end of the season we are beginning to discover how much batting the Navy has.

Whitehead restored some hope when he bowled Surgeon-Lt. Davenport who was playing very straight. The ball was very similar one to that which bowled the Engineer Commander. (Yes—I know—the papers got it wrong! Whitehead bowled Davenport and Prichard bowled Kirkwood!)

A STOUT STAND

Kirkwood who also plays a nice straight bat but is like Davenport, plenty of reach and power, came along and then we began to see a drop of cricket and I almost forgot how cold I was.

The newcomer straight-drove Garthwaite for four and Prichard relieved him, while from the other end Davis twice square cut Whitehead though an over later he appeared to be dropped at the wicket. There was a general appeal but "Ze ball 'e do not remain" and was discovered to be lying on the ground. Elvin then went on for Whitehead, and it was obvious that Welch, secure in his large total, was gambling probable runs against a possible wicket. But it was the bats that came, and after a slow start 64 runs were on the board after an hour's play. Finally when the pair had put on 47 runs Prichard managed to pick out his off break and bowled Kirkwood with a very good length ball that fizzed off. 74-3-23.

FEEL FIT

AUSSIE DAVIS CUPPERS

TRAINING GAIN

Sydney, Mar. 16.
Jack Crawford—lost half a stone.
Cliff Sproule—lost ten lb.
Vivian McGrath—an increase of 4 lb.

That is the weight chart of the three members of the Australian Davis Cup tennis team, who have been in training at the Royal Sydney Golf Links for a little over a fortnight.

They will remain there until their departure for U.S.A. at the end of this month.

To-day they were joined by the fourth member of the team, Adrian Quist, who has not yet fully recovered from an operation to the right jawbone following trouble from a tooth.

"NEVER FELT BETTER"

The loss of weight by Crawford and Sproule has not weakened them in any way, but has increased their vim. Sproule announced: "I never felt better in my life." He could say the same of Crawford, who was enjoying the training campaign more than any other member of the team. Neither Sproule nor Crawford will lose more than another pound or so, as both are close to their correct "fighting weight." McGrath, before he went "into camp," was far from well, but his improvement in training is astonishing.

"We are going to bring that cup back if this beating has anything to do with it," said Sproule, as he left with Quist for Rose Bay.

AMERICAN ZONE FINAL

Will Be Played On Grass

Should U.S.A. and Australia win the first round of their Davis Cup matches against Mexico and Cuba respectively, the final of the American zone will be played at the Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia, commencing on May 30.

This announcement was made by the United States Lawn Tennis Association, which has also tentatively selected its team for the American-Mexico match. It is—

W. Allison, J. D. Budge, G. Mako, B. Grant, and John Van Ryn. The schedule for the match between Australia and Cuba has not yet been fixed.

PERRY SETS "COMEBACK" TRAIL BY WINNING TWO TITLES

Cannes, Apr. 6.

Fred Perry, Wimbledon champion, who once ruled all the far flung amateur tennis courts in the world, has set about his "comeback" in typical fashion and by his performances in the Cannes tournament which closed to-day is well on the way to recovering that peak form at which he is aiming in order to assist Britain to retain the Davis Cup this year.

Perry won two titles during the week-end. Playing with King Gustav of Sweden, he annexed the Cannes men's doubles championship, he and King Gustav beating Stanton Young and E. Williams of England in straight sets of 8-6, 6-4.

Perry also won the singles title after a fine four-sets match with Max Ellmer, Swiss Davis Cup exponent. Perry won 10-8, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.—United Press.

Powerful Rugby League Test Team For Australia

ENGLAND PICKS THE BEST

Fine Set Of Forwards

The critics are sure to approve of the Rugby League team selected to tour Australia. The team will leave England on April 17.

The notable omission is that of Bennett, the coloured five-eighth. Doubtless, despite reassurances from Australia, the Rugby League administrators decided not to risk criticism by his inclusion.

The general opinion here is that Bennett is the best five-eighth produced by the Rugby League in Britain for ten years.

There is no doubt that Sullivan, Morley, Stanley Smith, Atkinson, Fred Harris, Brodgen and McCue, provided they retain their English form, are certain for the Test games in Australia.

Though inclined to go easy in club games, Atkinson is still a big match player and will probably be reserved for the Tests.

The experts believe that McCue is at least equal to Thicknesse.

MEN OF SPEED

It is apparent that the selectors had in mind Australian conditions in

THE FULL TEAM

Full-backs: J. Sullivan (Wigan), captain; J. Brough (Leeds).
Wingers: J. C. Morley (Wigan), B. Hudson (Salford), S. Smith (Leeds), A. Edwards (Salford).

Centres: Fred Harris (Leeds), A. Atkinson (Castleford), G. Rishman (Salford), W. Beishaw (Liverpool Stanley).

Five-eighths: C. Jenkins (Salford), S. Brodgen (Leeds).

Half-backs: J. Watkins (Salford), A. McCue (Widnes).

Hookers: J. Field (Wakefield), A. Arnall (Swinton).

Forwards: N. Silecock (Widnes), A. Miller (Warrington), A. L. Jones (Keighley), L. A. Troup (Harrow), J. Arkwright (Warrington), M. Hodgson (Swinton), A. Exley (Wakefield), H. Beverley (Hunslet), J. Elington (Hull), H. Woods (Liverpool).

selecting the forwards, who are nearly all men of speed, clever handlers and good both in the loose and in the tight scrums. The weight in the scrum compares well with that of previous English sides.

Harris should develop into one of the stars of the side. He is daring and orthodox.

There are some doubts whether Jenkins, who is very brilliant, can stand a strenuous tour, but he is sure to please the spectators.

Festham, though considered the most outstanding loose forward in England, was left out. It is understood, because it was thought that he was not rugged enough.

All the forwards have a reputation for being determined, hard-working and fearless players.

H. E. TO DISTRIBUTE TROPHIES

TO BADMINTON WINNERS

H.E. the Governor (Sir Andrew Caldecott), patron of the Hong Kong Badminton Association, has graciously consented to attend the Presentation Night which is to wind up the current badminton league season on April 25, and to distribute the trophies.

Club de Recreio, Elliot Hall and either St. Andrew's Chinese Recreation Club will receive prizes from the hands of His Excellency, who also hoped to be present when the men's doubles exhibition match is played.

The programme for this function, which is taking place at Club de Recreio, includes exhibition badminton followed by a dance, admission for which will be $1.50 per single ticket and $2.50 per double ticket, which will be obtainable this week from badminton club secretaries.

ROSS TO FIGHT CARROLL

For World Title In Australia

It has been definitely arranged that Barney Ross, of America, the world welterweight champion, will meet Jack Carroll, Australian welterweight champion, for the world's title in Australia, probably in November next.

This statement was made by Mr. C. Lucas, the Sydney boxing promoter, when he arrived in Melbourne. One of the objects of his visit is to inspect Olympic Park, Melbourne, and discuss with the management the possibility of the match taking place there.

Mr. Lucas said that Carroll had accepted the terms offered, but he could not disclose them.

HITLER REGIME WILL NOT STOP BALKANS FROM WORLD OLYMPICS

Vienna.

Opposition to the Hitler regime had had little or no effect amongst the Balkan States in regard to participation in the Olympic Games in Berlin this year. While Austria and Germany are engaged in a sports war which may end in a boycott by Vienna of the games in the Third Reich, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Rumania and Bulgaria are showing unusual interest in preparing to fight world sports honours in the German capital.

Amongst the Danubian States, probably the greatest enthusiasm for this year's Games is being evinced by Yugoslavia and Hungary. The Budapest Olympic Sports Committee declares that they will probably ship the largest sports contingent to Berlin that has ever represented Hungary at an Olympic gathering. Owing to the high cost of transportation to the Los Angeles games, Hungary sent only seventy-three representatives to the California meet, whereas the contingent which goes to Berlin will be over twice as strong. At present, the estimated strength is almost 150.

GOING AHEAD WITH PLANS

The Olympic games authorities in Yugoslavia, where the Sokol movement is producing much promising athletic material, say that they do not believe international political quarrels should be allowed to interfere with amateur sport.

They are going ahead with their plans with the sole thought in mind of wresting all the honours possible from the rest of the world in Berlin.

In its eagerness to send the largest possible choice of sporting talents to Germany, the Yugoslavian Olympic committee has called a nation-wide sports-day for June 7, the proceeds of which will be used to help defray the cost of transportation and other expenses of the team, which will number 110, including eighty Sokols.

In this manner, Yugoslavia hope to have a larger sum available than at any time before to help its Olympic champions to victory.

As in Hungary and Yugoslavia, National Socialism is a powerful issue in internal politics in Rumania, due to the large numbers of German-speaking nationals and Jewish citizens. The country, however, will not allow this to interfere with its Olympic plans, which are being encouraged by King Carol and Parliament.

BULGARIA ALSO

In Bulgaria, King Boris has, similarly, given his patronage to a drive to find the best talent to compete under the national colours in the Olympic games this summer. Here again the Jewish question, which is not so acute as in Bulgaria and Hungary, is not intruding into the sphere of international sports.

The only reason which might prevent Bulgaria from taking her place with the other nations at Berlin would be lack of sufficient sports talent. The Olympic Sports Committee, with public and official aid, hopes to pick at least a small team to keep Bulgaria's flag flying in Germany.

The general opinion of sports leaders throughout the Danubian countries is that even if the United States had vetoed participation at Berlin because of the persecution of the Jews in Germany, that lead would not have been followed by either Belgrade, Bucharest, Budapest or Sofia.

The quarrel waging between Austria and Germany over sports has its origin to some extent in political ill-

Lo Brothers Lose Gallantly

A very doubtful decision was given against them, and Fincher and Hung recovered to lead 6-4. Even so there was plenty of fight left in the brothers, who proceeded to hold "M.K.'s" service and only yielded the net after fierce resistance.

The standard of tennis did not remain consistently high, but there were some entertaining phases. The losers pleased with their brilliancy at unexpected moments, while Fincher and Hung continued to plod along, seldom playing below a certain form and now and then raising their game to heights indicative of champions in the making.

They won chiefly because they were able to sustain a net attack. Albert Fincher has volleyed very much better. So unusual were the number of mistakes he made in this department that one can only find the right explanation in his own words—that he couldn't see the ball. At the same time Teddy was able to retain his equilibrium sufficiently to make winning smashes and half-volleys at regular intervals, and on the whole he gave quite a creditable showing. His placements were always neat.

LACK OF UNDERSTANDING

Hung was slightly more steady and was at his happiest when occupying the forecourt. At the same time he was often outpositioned and "aced" by M. W. Lo's pacy drives. Hung's driving was adequate without being notably potent.

What was noticeable was the lack of team work on the part of the winners. Neither were quite certain when they should run back to take the passing lob and more than once they deceived each other upon receiving down-the-middle drives. There was rather too much individualism in their display to encourage too much confidence concerning their prospects of winning the title. Most decidedly they can afford to develop a better understanding before the final.

Surfeit Of Runs And Plenty Of Fun

proceeded to hit the ball hard and frequently. Both batsmen were knocking the slow bowlers about and it was not slopping but good orthodox hitting.

Walch decided that he could not afford the pace, and brought Garthwaite on, and Davis survived an l.b.w. appeal right away. Afterwards both batsmen treated the new bowler with somewhat scanty respect.

Forty-two runs came very quickly all told, and then there was an anti climax. Davis played one slowly to cover and called Hayler who was backing up all right but could not possibly get home in what was a ridiculous run. The position seemed rather dangerous, and there was a sigh of relief from the Navy when Hunting was dropped off his second ball—a difficult chance in the gully. Cheered by this, he took nine runs off Garthwaite's next over—but played just the same trick on Davis as that officer had on Hayler—save that the ball was played to short and forward square leg. A silly business. 135-6-50.

Apart from a couple of chances Davis had played beautiful cricket and had saved his side. It was very dark by now. Hunting continued to hit and was soon caught at cover. Garthwaite at last getting a wicket. He should have had at least two more. Howie and Harper played out time, with the score at 161 for six wickets.

A REFLECTION

The question is—could the Army have won by an earlier declaration? It is very doubtful. Their rate of scoring at the beginning of the innings (excepting Perse of course) had been too slow to put Walch on velvet early on. Even if they had declared at 180 it does not mean that the Navy would have had the extra time to get the more runs they would have needed. Walch would have handled his bowling differently I fancy.

I personally think he held on too long, simply because the Army might just as well have had a loss as a draw. But to my mind the only thing that would have won the match was if that square-leg catch had been taken. It is a curious thing that the Army, who are easily the most entertaining side to watch, and to my mind the best batting side in the Colony—in 1935 at any rate—occupy such a very humble position in the League. They have of course had the worst of luck.

Now the rest of the cricket on Saturday last and more especially the joy match of the K.C.C. and U.S.F.C. on Sunday, is it not written in the Chronicles of R. Abbit which will appear on Thursday next, seeing as how the Telegraph does not publish on Good Friday.

MANILAN WINS U.S. PING PONG TITLE

Eduardo Yap Captures Championship

Philadelphia, Penn., April 2. Eduardo M. Yap of Manila to-day won the Sixth National Table Tennis Championships from E. D. Silverglade of Trenton. Silverglade defaulted in the final play-off.

Yap has resided in the United States for a number of years. He is a brother of Dr. Diosdado Yap, head of the Philippine Information bureau in Washington.

Eduardo became a ping pong enthusiast years ago when he went to the Crane Junior College in Chicago.

He started a ping pong parlor there, and later went to Washington, running a ping pong parlor in the capital and popularizing the game there.

Yap frequently played in tournaments and went on tours. He previously won several local, city and state titles.

BRITAIN'S NEW LUXURY LINER READY FOR TRIAL RUNS

Composite photograph of R.M.S. Queen Mary, as an artist depicts her on her trials off Southampton this week.

As the Queen Mary went down the Clyde she passed the burnt hulk of the liner Atlantique, which, after lying for three years at Cherbourg, has been sold to a Glasgow firm of ship-breakers. It will be recalled that she was practically gutted by a fire which broke out on January 4, 1933, while she was in the Channel on her way from Bordeaux to Le Havre. She was one of the finest and largest ships under the French flag.

Experiments are made in the United States with flying tanks—airplanes which carry tanks below the fuselage. The tanks are lowered to the ground before the plane lands.

EDEN ANSWERS ATTACK

change of views might be valuable. He agreed that the League should be brought into the discussions at the first opportunity.

Mr. Eden's proposals contained matters affecting powers outside the Western European states, and it was essential that these proposals should be co-ordinated by the League.

Hops Of Security

"If," declared Mr. Eden, "we can assure by the end of the summer that the European membership in the League will be a structure in Western Europe replacing the Locarno Treaty and strengthening security elsewhere by arrangements directly supervised and controlled by the League, we shall have gained very much more security for Europe. Then it will be possible to enter into the larger scheme, relating to economics, armaments, and so on," he concluded.—Reuter.

Inept Leadership

London, April 6. Foreign affairs were debated in the House of Commons this evening, along with other matters, on the Prime Minister's motion of procedure arising out of the defeat of the Government last Wednesday on the question of equal pay for men and women in the Civil Service. A question of confidence has been posed to secure a reversal of the Commons previous decision, and the Leader of the Opposition took occasion to attack the Government's policy both at home and abroad. He contended that the menace of war had grown through years of inept leadership of the Government, which had allowed the initiative to pass from the Great Western democracies into the hands of dictators. He argued that for resistance to aggression, Locarno was too narrow a basis. The whole strength of the League should be organised for the preservation of law and order. Sir Archibald Sinclair, for the Liberals, and Mr. Winston Churchill took up Mr. Atlee's criticism of the Government's policy in the Italian Abyssinian dispute, and the latter spoke in favour of more resolute action on behalf of the victim of aggression.

Churchill's Criticism

Mr. Churchill thought the Government's policy had fallen between two stools and had managed to secure the disadvantages of alienating Italy and encouraging Germany to illegal action, without the advantages of helping Abyssinia or vindicating the League. The lesson of this melancholy chapter was that they should not intervene in such matters unless they were in earnest and were prepared to carry intervention to all necessary lengths. Mr. Churchill also raised the questions of the Colonies and German rearmament and the effects in the Eastern and South-Eastern Europe, which would follow re-formation by Germany of her western frontier.

Ethiopian War

Mr. Eden referred to the meeting on Wednesday of the Committee of Thirteen in the course of replies to Commons questions to-day on the war in Abyssinia. He said recent events had made it clearly desirable that the Committee should be called together without delay, and that the Government had made known their views to the Chairman, Senator Madariaga, who was actively engaged on the task he had undertaken at the request of the Committee of bringing the parties to the war together, and within the framework of the League and in the spirit of the Covenant, securing the prompt cessation of hostilities and a final restoration of peace.

Replying to a suggestion that a commission should be appointed to recommend a settlement, the Foreign Secretary recalled that in September last the League's Committee of Five made a careful and thorough investigation into the origin of and issues involved in the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia, and worked out in great detail a plan for a just and equitable settlement. Questioned as to the Government's action regarding the use of gas and attacks by aircraft on Red Cross units and open towns in Abyssinia, Mr. Eden retailed the action already announced in relation to the first two matters and said, as to the bombing of open towns, in view of the importance of guarding against violation of the laws and customs of war relating to the protection of non-combatants, the Government were making urgent representations that the complaints of the Ethiopian Government should receive immediate attention from the appropriate organ of the League.—British Wireless.

JONES NOT FORCED TO TESTIFY

Washington, Apr. 6. The Securities Exchange Commission in the Supreme Court to-day lost its long struggle to compel Mr. Edward Jones, a New York dealer in old stocks, to testify concerning a statement of proposed securities issues. However, the Supreme Court did not rule on the constitutionality of the Securities Act of 1933. Mr. Jones had challenged the act as unconstitutional after a lower court had upheld it, and ruled that Mr. Jones should be forced to testify.—Reuter.

PASSION PLAY

AT CATHEDRAL AND S. & S. HOME

"The Garden," a Passion Play in Five Scenes by Father Andrew, S.D.C., will be performed in the Sailors' and Soldiers' Home on Wednesday, April 8, at 8 p.m., and in St. John's Cathedral on Thursday and Good Friday, April 9 and 10 at 9 p.m. There will be no reservation of seats, but in order to ensure admission, programmes may be obtained at the Sailors' and Soldiers' Home for the performance there, or at the Cathedral Office for the performances in the Cathedral. The action of the play takes place in part of the Garden of Gethsemane between the Thursday in Holy week and dawn of the first Easter Day. Suitable hymns have been chosen to be sung by choir and congregation between the scenes, and it is hoped that many will make the witnessing of this play part of their Holy Week observance and preparation for Easter.

Further Advance

Rome, Apr. 6. A communique issued to-day states that Italian troops have occupied Alamata, nine miles south of Quorom, on the road to Dessie. Italian planes bombed Sasabaneh in Southern Ethiopia, another report states.—United Press.

Italian Protest

Geneva, Apr. 6. Italy surprised League of Nations circles to-day by lodging a protest against the Ethiopian Government's bombing Italian Red Cross units.—United Press. It is not clear whether the Italians charge the Ethiopians with bombing Red Cross units from the air or the ground. Since the Ethiopians have no air force, it is something of a mystery how they would be able to reach the Italian Red Cross camps.

DISCUSSION AT Y.M.C.A.

To Be Led By Rev. McClean

The Y.M.C.A. Literary and Debating Society's series of discussions on the subject "Is the World All Right?" will conclude to-morrow evening when the Rev. W. McClean will present the "Religious and Social Point of view."

All members are heartily invited to attend the reading room at 9 o'clock to participate in this discussion which promises to be one of the most interesting of the series.

Other angles to the subject which have been previously debated are "Educational," "Finance and Economics," and a general survey, which furnished the introduction to the series. There have been encouraging attendances at all meetings but it is hoped that even more will be present to assist in a successful winding up of an interesting season.

MAHARAJAH OF AGE

WILL RULE GREAT KOLHAPUR PROVINCE

Calcutta, Apr. 6. The Maharajah of Kolhapur celebrated his coming-of-age, when Sir John Anderson, on behalf of the British Government, presented him with ruling powers.

The Maharajah announced his loyalty to the King-Emperor in an address to his people.

The Viceroy sent congratulations and expressed the hope that the Maharajah would have peaceful rule and long life.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

NEW DICTATOR

DOIHARA'S SUCCESSOR IN NORTH CHINA

Peiping, April 6. Major General Takayoshi Matsumoto is succeeding Lieut. General Kenji Doihara as Chief of the Japanese Political Section of the Kwantung Army here. He arrived at 1.30 p.m. to-day.

The Chinese predict that he will be virtual dictator of the Hopei Charhar Political Council. Major General Matsumoto told the Japanese press that "North China is facing a most critical and dangerous situation owing to Communist forces, which had already penetrated into Shanai Province. The shortsighted policy of the Chinese officials, who are always intriguing, is imperilling everything. I hope that the members of the Northern Government will realize that any policy except that of co-operation with Japan will ruin the country." The Student Union sent an open letter to General Sung Choh-yuan, urging him to fight, and reminding him of the fate of the Manchurian generals after the Japanese had taken over the country.—United Press.

Position Explained

Peiping, April 6. Major General Matsumoto, the successor here of Lieut. General Doihara, arrived and explained that the Kwantung Army will now have no connection with North China. He will carry on any necessary negotiations with North China as representative here of the Japanese North China garrison.—Reuter.

INDIA AND OTTAWA

London, Apr. 6. The recent decision of the Indian Legislative Assembly to terminate the agreement signed at Ottawa between the British and Indian Governments was mentioned in the House of Commons by the Under-Secretary for India, Mr. R. A. Butler, who, in reply to questions, said he presumed the Government of India would in due course give the necessary six weeks' notice.—British Wireless.

Lucky Woman Loses 57 Pounds of FAT in 12 Weeks

New Treatment Brings Amazing Loss of Weight and Improved Health, Without Any Special Diet.

Suppose you weighed 257 lbs., and every time you looked in a mirror (even almost empty as you gazed on a double chin, heavy arms and legs, large hips and bust).

And suppose this over-fat condition made you too heavy for your own feet—until you felt constantly all dragged out, stomach upset with gas and indigestion and dreadful dizzy spells.

And then you tried one thing after another—and you're all ready to despair.

Such was the dilemma of Mrs. Mary Edwards, Flint, Michigan, U.S.A. She read about Bonkora, the one safe, natural way to take off extra pounds by cleansing wastes from the intestines, and removing retained moisture from fatty tissues. But let her tell her story:

"You can't imagine how happy I am since taking Bonkora. I weighed 257 pounds. Now, after only 12 weeks, I am down to 200—a loss of 57 pounds. For years I suffered from 'flax' spells that would make me 'loopy' sick to my stomach. I was also troubled with constipation. All these annoying symptoms have disappeared and I feel, oh, so much lighter and full of life. The most remarkable part of it all is that I have lost all this weight without dieting. I have recommended Bonkora to lots of my friends and they have gotten good results."

You may not want to lose 57 pounds in 12 weeks. But if you have excess fat you can lose it in the famous "90 day stages," as shown in this picture.

For the next week, before meals, take a little Bonkora, the new treatment.

Simply purchase a bottle of Bonkora, at your chemist today—unhealthy fat will quickly disappear and with it blood, gas, and other stomach ills. You'll feel younger, yes, you'll look younger with bright eyes, clear skin and sunnier figure which you dearly want.

FOR SALE AT ALL CHEMISTS.

500 M.P.H. ROCKET: DEATH FROM THE CLOUDS

TERROR MACHINE INVENTION

New York, Mar. 26. DEATH from the clouds, with explosive-laden, radio-controlled rocket crashing headlong into densely populated cities, has been visualized by inventors and military officials as a possible war time outgrowth of the mail rocket plane now being developed and almost ready for demonstration.

The 18-foot monoplane, driven at the terrific speed of 500 miles an hour, already has been tested successfully and amazed even its developers. A new fuel mixture of liquid oxygen, which reaches temperatures of 390 degrees below zero, creates the explosions which attain a heat of 4,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

The plane itself was designed by Prof. Alexander Klemin, director of the Guggenheim Institute of Aeronautics. The rocket motor was developed by Willy Ley, pioneer rocket builder who has given 97 rocket flight demonstrations, and Frido W. Kessler, president of the Rocket Airplane Corporation of America.

Outstanding difference between the new duralumin model and old rockets is its 35-miles-an-hour take off and landing speed. Ten seconds after it is catapulted into the air, however, the rocket plane hurtles along at speeds ranging upwards of 500 miles an hour, or more than eight miles a minute. Rockets, propelled by powder explosions leap away from the ground at their maximum speed and usually crash upon landing.

The fact that the rocket plane can be piloted by radio to land at a directed destination arouses wide comment as to its adaptability for war purposes. Loaded with solid explosive or poison gas, similar rockets could be flown across seas and mountains to annihilate armies and destroy cities thousands of miles away.

4000 Degrees Heat
Chief hindrance at present, however, is the fact that the rocket plane will burn up if the motor is run more than three minutes. The extreme temperature of 4,000 degrees created by the explosions melts the ST-17 Duralumin walls like wax.

A special patented cooling agent which is poured into the fuel allows the motor to run up to about three minutes. This cooling agent is the sole reason why the rocket plane cannot be copied. An exact duplicate using the same fuel but without the cooling agent would burst into flames a few seconds after starting.

The first demonstration flight was planned to be without radio control. The rocket plane, loaded with mail, was to be aloft but 30 seconds and travel about 3 miles.

18 Ft. Wings
The rocket plane is 12 feet long with an 18 foot wing spread. The wing is 35 inches wide and the body measures 14 by 14 inches square. The mail compartment is in a shock proof nose. Three tanks are in the centre of the fuselage containing the following fuels and gases:

1. Liquid Oxygen.
2. Mixture of alcohol, gasoline, methane and other liquids.
3. Compressed nitrogen. (Furnishing pressure to the other two tanks).

The liquids in the first two tanks are sprayed into a combustion chamber where they are ignited electrically. The resulting combustion is among the most violent explosions known and forms a gas thousands of times the original volume of the fuel.

Ryder Cup Donor's Will 'Rather A Shock' To Widow

GOLF is not mentioned in the will of Mr. Samuel Ryder, the man who gave the famous Ryder gold cup for which British and American professionals compete.

New King Edward Stamps

HALF-LENGTH PORTRAIT

FOR the first time in history the postage stamps of Great Britain and Northern Ireland will carry a half-length portrait of the Sovereign in place of the customary profile pictures when the first stamps of King Edward VIII are issued at the end of this year.

It is understood that, by his own request, King Edward will appear on all stamps in a naval uniform.

Ever since England's first adhesive stamp, the famous "penny black," was issued in May 1840 by Rowland Hill, the Sovereign has been represented by a head and neck portrait only.

Since the size of the new King Edward VIII stamps will remain the same, and the figure will be half-length, the features of the King will not be so large in the representation as those of past monarchs.

50,000,000 PEOPLE HAVE NEVER SEEN A TRAIN

For the first time in history a railway line is to be built in Szechwan, one of the richest provinces in China, with a total population of approximately 60,000,000.

Only a minute percentage of the men and women who make up that population figure have ever been outside their own province; the vast majority of them have never seen a train.

Previous attempts have been made to plan a track, but all of them so far have been hampered by local prejudice and financial obstacles.

Professional golfers expected that Mr. Ryder, who gave away thousands of pounds to the game during his life, would provide in his will for the endowment of the cup to pay the expenses of British teams.

But Mrs. Ryder said:—
"I am afraid that I shall not be able to endow it."

"The smallness of the estate has come as rather a shock to me. It is considerably less than half a million. My husband gave away a small fortune to golf, the game he loved."

INVOLVED WILL

"The will is very involved, and at the moment I cannot say exactly what the estate is worth."

Mr. Ryder, seventy-seven-year-old seed "king," and head of Ryder and Son, St. Albans, died in London from pneumonia, on January 3.

The introduction of penny packets of seeds was the foundation on which he built his huge business. He was so fond of golf that when he was ill in 1933 he travelled to Southport with a nurse to see the match for his cup.

Abu Mitchell was his private professional.

Won £600: Goes To Prison Rather Than Pay Wife £100

RATHER than pay his wife £100 of over £300 owing in maintenance arrears, a Chandlers Ford, near Eastleigh (Hants), sweepstake winner has gone to Winchester Prison for three months.

He is Arthur P. H. Davis, a cable layer, of Shaftesbury-avenue, Chandlers Ford. When he appeared at Eastleigh Police Court, it was stated that he had recently won £600 in the Irish sweepstake and had bought a motorcar for £80.

The order for payment under a separation order was made in 1929 and was for payment of £1 a week to his wife and 10s. a week for a child. Although Davis had paid the child's allowance regularly, it was stated that he had not paid a penny to the wife.

Davis said he had not done so because, he alleged, his wife had committed perjury saying that his income was greater than it was when the order was made.

The motorcar he had bought for his mother, who had since died. His income was 40s. a week. Davis was given the choice of paying £100 in seven days or of going to prison for three months.

THE KING'S VISIT TO GLASGOW'S SLUMS

CHATS TO WOMEN AND CHILDREN

"I Am Your King" Greeting to Blind Man

Glasgow, Mar. 21.

FROM the super-luxury of the world's biggest liner, the Queen Mary, King Edward has just concluded a tour of the tenement homes of some of Glasgow's poorest families.

Only this month he declared in his first broadcast to the Empire that he is still the same man he was as Prince of Wales. And to-day he proved it—in a way that will never be forgotten. Unheralded and alone, he has stood in dimly-lit bedrooms questioning poverty-stricken housewives about their living conditions and their hardships; he has sought exact particulars about rent and unemployment pay, and has expressed great concern at the way in which some families are compelled to live.

His visits made all the deeper impression on him because he had just come from a long inspection of the Queen Mary at Clydebank.

For three hours he explored the ship from bridge to stokehold, and was particularly impressed with the liner's mechanical marvels.

During the inspection he expressed a wish to see the humorous drawings by Mr. Tom Webster, the Daily Mail cartoonist, which will form the principal decorations of the gymnasium. For several minutes he studied them, laughing heartily at those depicting golfers from the earliest days and cartoons of past and present-day boxers.

SEEING FOR HIMSELF

It was in a narrow court of old smoke-blackened buildings—Crest-court, North-street, Anderson—that the King went to see for himself how the people lived.

Bare-headed and wearing a long black overcoat with astrakhan collar, he strode over the rough cobbles, stepping through pools of water, in a district which is generally regarded as perhaps the roughest in Glasgow.

To the surprise of women and children who rushed to the windows of dingy tenements he turned into a dark alleyway leading to one of the houses, followed by a few officials—and to their greater amazement he did not come out for half an hour.

During that half-hour he visited every one of eight tiny two-roomed dwellings in the three-floored building examined them carefully, and talked to the occupants.

A correspondent standing near the King as he went into several of the tiny flats saw him in many cases open a door and walk in after a polite "Can I come in?"

There was a very human incident at the first flat he entered. A woman was standing by the fire with a little boy at her side.

EIGHT IN TWO ROOMS

"Are you really the new King?" asked the little boy.

"Yes, I am the King," he answered, gravely bending down. The child was Charles Storrie, the 6½-year-old son of Mrs. Storrie, whose sister, Mrs. Thomas O'Rourke, lives in the flat with her husband, a shipworker, and two small boys.

A few minutes later, in a flat opposite, a cheerful-faced woman with spectacles and a mop of hair, Mrs. A. Gaddi, told how she lived in two small rooms with her husband and six children—two girls of 18 and 10, three girls of 17, 16, and 14, and a 2½-year-old baby girl Vera.

The King's distress was obvious. While he was talking to Mrs. Gaddi her baby girl was hiding behind her skirts, but the King brought a smile to her when he said, "Hello, baby," and shook her by her hand.

"I AM YOUR KING"

No incident of the tour was more touching than the moment when he stepped into a flat and found himself face to face with a blind man.

"Who is there?" challenged the blind man, Mr. Hugh Queen. "I am your King," came the quiet reply.

The blind man's face lit up with a wondering joy, as he stretched out his hand and felt a firm grasp. The King asked gently how he had lost his sight, and Mr. Queen told how his eyes had been injured in a steelworks accident in 1901.

On a bed lay Mr. Queen's two-week-old son, and the King turned to the mother and said "What a fine child!"

Two other children live in the flat, and the King asked Mr. Queen "How do you all manage to live here?"

"We are doing our best till you manage to get a new home for us," came the reply.

"I will do my best to help you," the King said.

In the next flat Mrs. Hugh Allen was playing ludo with a nephew, William Starr, when the King suddenly walked in. She was so taken aback that she burst into tears, but the King quickly restored her calmness by shaking hands.

When Time Will Count On Everest

BRIEF PERIOD FOR FINAL ASSAULT

The essential conditions for the success of the fifth organised attempt to scale the 29,002-foot peak of Mount Everest were explained last month by Mr. Eric Shipton, a member of Mr. Hugh Rutledge's expedition, whose advance party left for India recently.

Success or failure, he pointed out, depends largely on the time factor. Nature permits only a brief period during which conditions make possible an assault on the summit. The state of the weather round the top of Everest in the first fortnight in June will decide whether the mountain will at last be conquered this year.

"Some time before the end of May," said Mr. Shipton, "we expect to reach the top of North Col, where we shall place Camp Four, at a height of 23,000ft. For many months of the year terrific blizzards sweep over this region, but if we can get a period of comparative quiet between the winter weather conditions and the coming of the monsoon, we shall have an opportunity to reach the summit."

TERRIBLE BLIZZARDS

"So far as we have been able to ascertain, there are no insuperable difficulties in the final stage of the climb. This is providing that we do not encounter one of those terrible blizzards, against which it is hopeless to attempt to stand. Another danger lies in deep deposits of treacherous powder snow, which would inevitably cause a fatal accident. Any climber who lost footing at that part of the ascent would be plunged down an 8,000 ft. precipice."

The assault would be made, he added, by parties of two, in turn. No man who has recently made the attempt would have sufficient strength to try again.

TREACHEROUS SLOPE

Between Camp Seven and the summit the climbers will have to negotiate a treacherous slope, with crags overhanging each other, rather like the tiles of a roof, at an angle of 45 degrees. They will have to cross the Great Couloir, a gully of ice-bound rock, possibly covered with snow, which the climbers of the 1924 and 1933 expeditions failed to pass; and then, to reach the summit, they will have to fight their way across further rocky, dangerous slabs.

This tremendous task will have to be accomplished, between sunrise and sunset, on a single day, for no human being could live through a night in the open in that icy temperature.

'Earth' And 'Quake' Arrive

(QUETTA TWINS)

(IN BASKETS)

DON BEATS DAVID—BY A TOOTH

INTRODUCING: Master David and Master Donald Mackenzie, just arrived in London from Karachi, or, as they are called in their birthplace, "Earth" and "Quake!"

The "Quetta" twins—as they are likely to be known—were born three months after the earthquake which last May devastated Quetta and took a death-toll of some thirty thousand lives.

Their mother, Mrs. Muriel Mackenzie—tall, graceful and good-looking brunette—went through the horrors of that terrible night of May 31. She was asleep when the first disturbance rocked the town. She was thrown into a chair. The town was plunged in darkness. In a back room was her four-year-old son, sleeping with a night-nurse.

Mrs. Mackenzie managed to stagger across the room to rescue her child. Each time the nurse lifted up the mosquito netting over the child's cot she was thrown back, and it was not until the earthquake was over that she was able to get the child out of the bungalow.

DIFFERENT BIRTHDAYS

Mrs. Mackenzie's husband is a staff captain on the Quetta station. He was out with the troops on manoeuvres, and it was not until the following day that he and his wife were reunited.

David and Donald were born in Karachi, three months after the earthquake.

Now they have come to London to spend a few months with their grandmother, Mrs. McIntyre, in Crickleade-avenue, Streatham Hill, S.W.

It was here that I had the pleasure of making the acquaintance of the "Quetta" twins yesterday afternoon. They are the bonniest pair of five-month-olds you could meet. Both have blue eyes. David has fair, curly hair, while Donald has straight dark hair.

Twins they are, but they will have different birthdays. David's birthday is the seventh of September; his brother's the eighth of September. David was born at ten minutes to mid-night; his brother greeted the world ten minutes after mid-night.

But though David is really the elder, Donald is the first to cut a tooth. He did it while crossing the Red Sea!

The "Quetta" twins had quite a romantic journey to London. They travelled in baskets, and at every stopping-place they created tremendous interest.

TRAVELLED AS "LUGGAGE"

Said Mrs. Mackenzie, laughing heartily: "It was really amusing to see them put on the porters' trucks with the luggage, and wheeled to another train or boat."

It is Mrs. Mackenzie's sense of humour that has helped her forget the nightmare of Quetta. Sitting in her mother's pleasant drawing-room with her bonnie babies in her arms, she seemed ideally happy.

David seems endowed with his mother's good humour, finds something amusing in everything around him. He just laughs from the time he awakens till he slips off to slumber. Donald is more serious. He thought the fire in the drawing-room was so wonderful that he could not take his eyes off the leaping flames.

And Grandma McIntyre could not be prouder of the "Quetta" twins if they were her own!

Too Perfect

MECHANICAL MAN THAT BECAME TOO HUMAN

IT SHOT ITS INVENTOR

San Diego, Mar. 24.

The career of Alpha, the mechanical man, has been turned to activities other than that of an expert marksmen following the single target shooting match in which he fired one shot, scored a bull's-eye and hung up a lifetime record of 1,000 per cent.

The bull's-eye was off the head of "professor" Harold May, the "radio robot's" creator, who left his bed, his head swathed in bandages and a monkey wrench in hand, to dismember the gadget that makes Alpha shoot.

"It's the second time I've made the mistake of teaching Alpha to do something he can do better than I can," May explained. "I once tried to teach him to box, and it took half an hour to revive me."

The professor was formerly connected with the University of London Physics Department, and claims to have invented a type of armoured tank used by the British during the world war.

Alpha is his greatest creation. He—or it—smokes, sits down, stands up, says good morning, turns on lights and winks at pretty girls.

Pistol shooting was its nearest trick, up until May was wounded. Previous performances were with blank cartridges. May exclaims "Shoot!" and Alpha fires at the place where the order came from.

Once, according to May, a man in the audience yelled "Shoot!" and Alpha fired a bullet-wounding hitting the spectator between the eyes.

Apparently by accident, Alpha's gun was loaded with a real bullet, but luckily his aim was a bit awry. The lead slug creased the inventor's head.

weighs 2,400 pounds; stands 10 feet in his steel shod feet, and is a maze of mechanical gadgets inside, operated by radio which enables May to cause movements with verbal orders.

The tall, green-eyed monster, looks like a medieval knight, and his chest, when you open a tiny door over his heart, glows with radio tubes. He was "presented" before the late King George V and Queen Mary of England in 1932.

Meanwhile, May is working on a heavily guarded laboratory at the Pacific international exposition, on his latest trinket—a "death ray."

He claims the ray when perfected will destroy flies and insect pests, make airplane motors stop in mid-air and be strong enough to kill.

Vancouver Moving Toward Free Port

Vancouver, B.C., Apr. 1. Establishment of a free trade zone at Staten Island in New York harbour has given fresh impetus to the movement to establish free port facilities at Vancouver.

Considerable interest in the New York experiment has been aroused in Ottawa, and the House of Commons may deal with the subject during the present session.

Halifax, on the Atlantic coast, has urged free port facilities for some time, but it is contended here that the re-export from Halifax would be almost negligible. There is believed to be more argument in favour of Vancouver, but here again the question of volume has been raised.

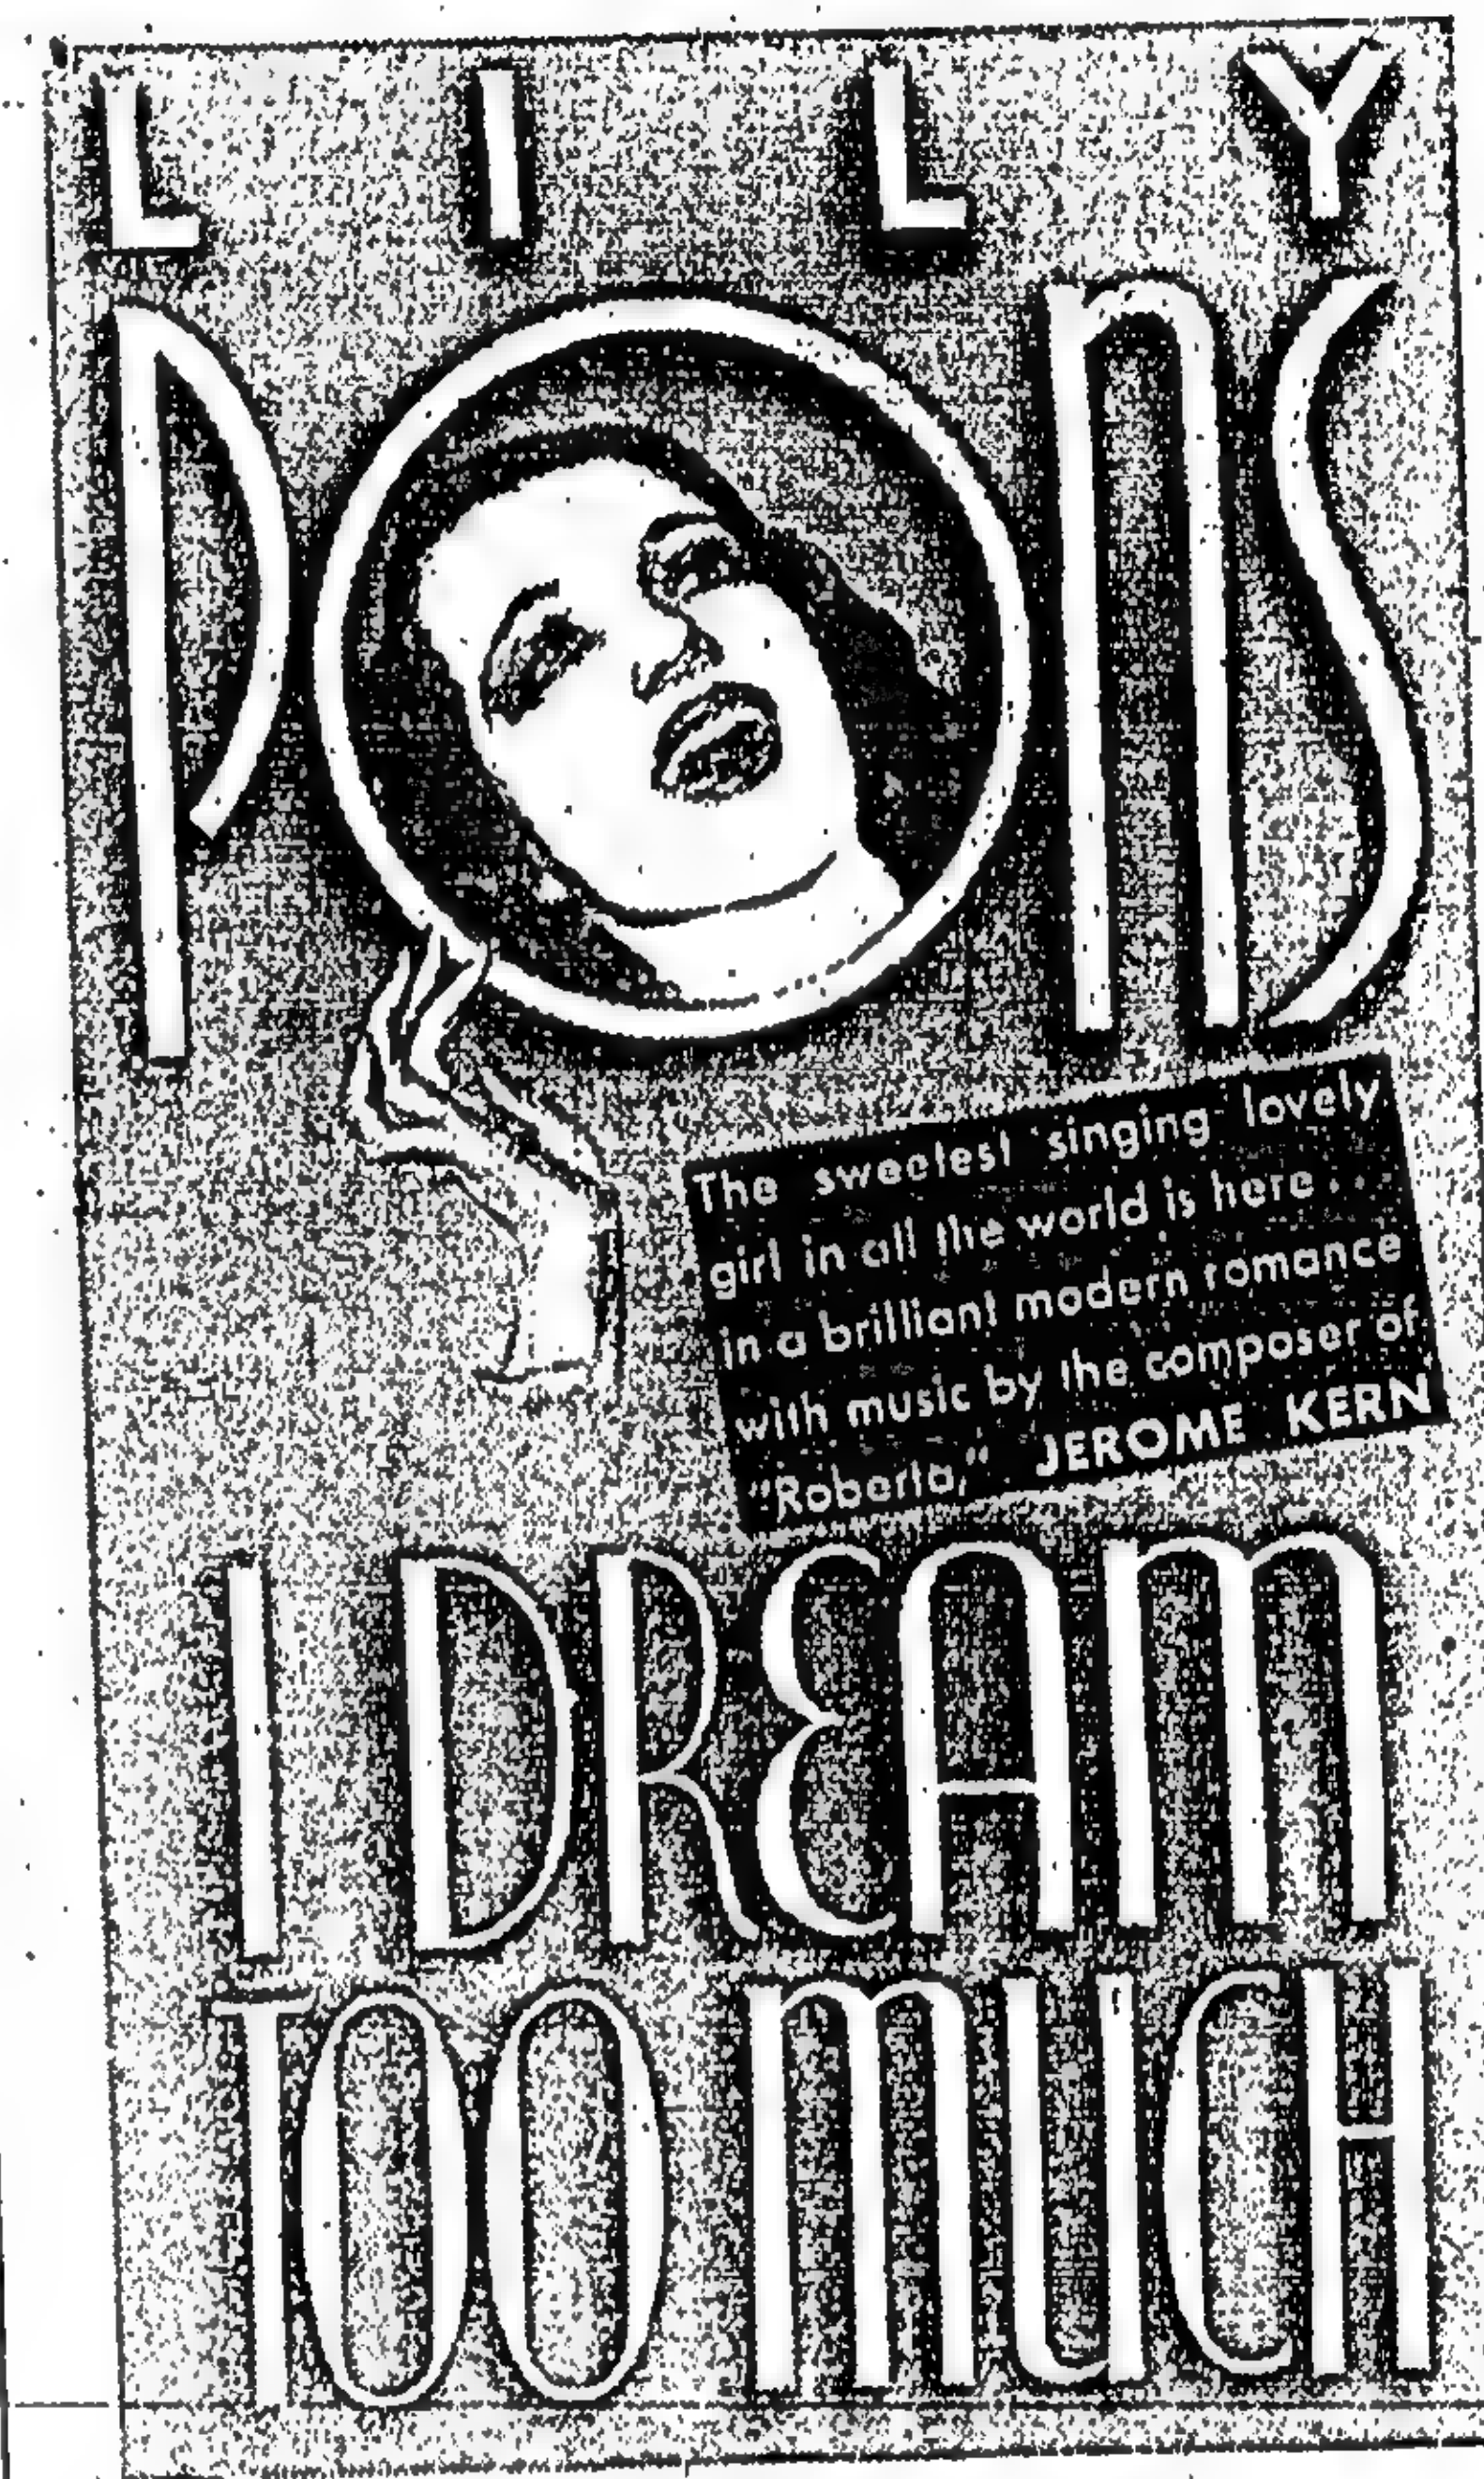

TO TINT or not TO PAINT

Truly smart women know that make-up should brighten—not paint! Tangee, isn't paint. Tangee changes color as you apply it and blends magically with your own natural, individual coloring. Its cream base keeps lips soft, smooth, youthful. Also try Tangee Face Powder, contains the magic color principle. Ends that powdered look.

EDEN ANSWERS ATTACK

change of views might be valuable.
He agreed that the League should be brought into the discussions at the first opportunity.

Herr Hitler's proposals contained matters affecting powers outside the Western European states, and it was essential that these proposals should be co-ordinated by the League.

Hope Of Security

"If," declared Mr. Eden, "we can assure by the end of the summer that the European membership in the League will be a structure in Western Europe," replacing the Locarno Treaty and strengthening security elsewhere by arrangements directly supervised and controlled by the League, we shall have gained very much more security for Europe.

"Then it will be possible, to enter into the larger scheme, relating to economics, armaments, and so on,"
he concluded.—Reuter.

Inept Leadership

London, April 6.
Foreign affairs were debated in the House of Commons this evening, along with other matters, on the Prime Minister's motion of procedure arising out of the defeat of the Government last Wednesday on the question of equal pay for men and women in the Civil Service.

A question of confidence has been posed to secure a reversal of the Commons decision, and the Leader of the Opposition took occasion to attack the Government's policy both at home and abroad.
He contended that the menace of war had grown through years of inept leadership of the Government, which had allowed the initiative to pass from the Great Western democracies into the hands of dictators. He argued that for resistance to aggression, Locarno was too narrow a basis. The whole strength of the League should be organised for the preservation of law and order.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, for the Liberals, and Mr. Winston Churchill took up Mr. Atlee's criticism of the Government's policy in the Italo-Abyssinian dispute, and the former spoke in favour of more resolute action on behalf of the victim of aggression.

Churchill's Criticism

Mr. Churchill thought the Government's policy had failed between two stools and had managed to secure the disadvantages of alienating Italy and encouraging Germany to illegal action, without the advantages of helping Abyssinia or vindicting the League. The lesson of this melancholy chapter was that they should not intervene in such matters unless they were in earnest and were prepared to carry intervention to all necessary lengths.

Mr. Churchill also raised the questions of the Colonies and German rearmament and spoke of the effects in Eastern and South-Eastern Europe

he pointed out, "by crossing the

Italian Protest

Geneva, Apr. 6.
Italy surprised League of Nations circles to-day by lodging a protest that Ethiopians were bombing Italian Red Cross units.—United Press.
It is not clear whether the Italians charge the Ethiopians with bombing Red Cross units from the air or the ground. Since the Ethiopians have no air force, it is something of a mystery how they would be able to reach the Italian Red Cross camps.

which would follow re-fortification by Germany of her western frontier.

Ethiopian War

Mr. Eden referred to the meeting on Wednesday of the Committee of Thirteen in the course of replies to Commons questions to-day on the war in Abyssinia. He said recent events had made it clearly desirable that the Committee should be called together without delay, and the Government had made known this was their view to the Chairman,
Senor Madariga, who was actively engaged on the task he had undertaken at the request of the Committee of bringing the parties to the war together, and, within the framework of the League and in the spirit of the Covenant, securing a prompt cessation of hostilities and a final restoration of peace.

Replying to a suggestion that a commission should be appointed to recommend a settlement, the Foreign Secretary recalled that in September last the League's Committee of Five made a careful and thorough investigation into the origin of and issues involved in the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia, and worked out in great detail a plan for a just and equitable settlement.

Questioned as to the Government's action regarding the use of gas and attacks by aircraft on Red Cross units and open towns in Abyssinia,
Mr. Eden recalled the action already announced in relation to the first two matters and said, as to the bombing of open towns, in view of the importance of guarding against violation of the laws and customs of war relating to the protection of non-combatants, the Government were making urgent representations that the complaints of the Ethiopian Government should receive immediate attention from the appropriate organ of the League.—

"The Garden," a Passion Play in Five Scenes by Father Andrew,
S.D.C., will be performed in the Salitors' and Soldiers' Home on Wednesday, April 8, at 9 p.m. and in St. John's Cathedral on Thursday and Good Friday, April 9 and 10 at 9 p.m. There will be no reservation of seats, but in order to ensure admission, programmes may be obtained at the Salitors' and Soldiers' Home for the performance there, or at the Cathedral Office for the performances in the Cathedral.

The action of the play takes place in part of the Garden of Gethsemane between the Thursday in Holy week and dawn of the first Easter Day.
Suitable hymns have been chosen to be sung by choir and congregation between the scenes, and it is hoped that many will make the witnessing of this play part of their Holy Week observance and preparation for Easter.

STAFF TALKS

The General Staffs of Britain, France and Belgium are to meet in London to-morrow to engage in conversations connected with the situation arising from German re-occupation of the Rhineland. In this matter, Britain has been placed in a somewhat unenviable position. On the one side, we have Germany suggesting that such talks, at the present juncture, will not help to compose the situation; on the other, it is clear that France desires Britain to go to much greater lengths than the Baldwin Government deems necessary. The point which must be kept uppermost, and which appears to need reiteration, is that the proposed British guarantees are aimed at ensuring the security of France and Belgium only in the event of unprovoked aggression, and, what is more, that they will only operate if the present conciliation efforts, in which Britain is exerting all her influence, should fail. German objection to the talks was answered a few days ago by Mr. Eden, when he explained that the arrangements envisaged would only operate should Germany attack France or Belgium, and, as Germany has herself excluded such a contingency, reasons for objection automatically fall to the ground. Reports are current, however, that the French delegation to the London talks intend demanding that Germany should be warned, under threat of joint action, that re-fortification of the Rhineland will not be tolerated. Should such a stand be taken, it is much to be doubted whether Britain would agree to any such course. Ever since the talks were first mentioned, the British Government has taken the line that they should be closely defined in their scope. Moreover, Mr. Eden has definitely assured the House of Commons that, being solely for the purpose of the Locarno Treaty, the conversations cannot increase or affect political undertakings or any obligations as regards defence organisations between the parties concerned. Political issues are, in fact, specifically excluded from the talks, and even on military matters the General Staffs will consider only technical points approved beforehand by the various Cabinets. Britain's

Is it, after all, a Scrap of Paper?

I. Breaking Versailles and Locarno

The demilitarised zone, which was reoccupied by German troops on Saturday, was set up by Articles 42-43 of the Treaty of Versailles. These articles forbid Germany to maintain troops or construct fortifications anywhere to the west of the Rhine or within 50 kilometres to the east of the river. These Articles were reaffirmed in the Locarno Treaty. This treaty was not forced upon Germany, but freely negotiated and concluded by Dr. Stresemann, with M. Briand, Sir Austen Chamberlain and Signor Mussolini, on Oct. 16, 1925.

NOTES OF THE DAY

TWO MILES OF DOGS

Of the many dog shows that are organised in Great Britain "Crufts" is the largest and the most important. This year was its Golden Jubilee, and it celebrated its fiftieth birthday by attracting a record entry of 10,650, thus outstripping by several thousands every other dog show in the world. The exhibits occupied two miles of benches. This is not surprising in view of the fact that the English people's proverbial love of dogs continues to grow year by year. Last year no fewer than three and a half million dog licences were issued to the British public. Allowing for sheep dogs and others for which no licence is required, there must thus be nearly four million dogs in the country. There is at the same time a steady increase of public interest in pedigree dogs. During the past quarter of a century this desire for pedigree animals has made giant strides. In 1910 there were registered at the Kennel Club 18,910 dogs; last year there were no less than 58,799. To-day the Kennel Club recognises 92 breeds, whereas in 1885 it acknowledged only 45. Last year the Club controlled 1,288 shows; fifty years ago it regulated only 52. The Kennel Club has a splendid record in every field where dogs are concerned. It has initiated many measures of reform and development in dog-breeding and dog keeping; and its enterprise and watchfulness where the well-being of dogs is concerned are beyond all praise. Its authority is implicitly accepted by everyone concerned with the dog industry, and its prestige and powers are unchallenged and indisputable.

obligations under the Locarno Treaty are quite clear and unambiguous, in which connection it is well to bear in mind that military assistance to any nation is made dependent on any overt act being found to come within the category of unprovoked aggression. Whilst the staff talks may have some value in reassuring France and Belgium that Britain is fully conscious of her obligations, and intends to abide by them, it is obvious that neither the British Government nor British public opinion is disposed to increase these obligations. A general recognition of this point seems desirable at this juncture.

Herr Hitler himself has also accepted the obligations of Locarno. In the Reichstag, Jan. 30, 1934, he said:

This question (i.e., the question of the Saar) is the only one concerning territory which is still open between the two nations (i.e., France and Germany). After it has been settled the German Government is ready to accept not only the letter but also the spirit of the Locarno Pact, for then there will be no other territorial question at stake between France and Germany.

The Saar question was settled to the satisfaction of both Powers after the Plebiscite in January, 1935.

Article 1 of the Locarno Treaty reads as follows: The high contracting parties collectively and severally guarantee the maintenance of the territorial status quo resulting from the frontiers between Germany and Belgium and between Germany and France and the inviolability of the said frontiers as fixed by or in pursuance of the Treaty of Peace signed at Versailles on June 28, 1919, and also the observance of the stipulations of Articles 42 and 43 of the said Treaty concerning the demilitarised zone.

This is not the only Article of the Locarno Treaty that Herr Hitler's action violates. Article 3 says that Germany and Belgium, and Germany and France, "undertake to settle by peaceful means and in the manner laid down herein all questions of every kind which may arise between them and which it may not be possible to settle by the normal methods of diplomacy." The "manner laid down herein" is defined in the Arbitration Convention as reference either to a Permanent Conciliation Commission set up for the purpose, or to arbitration, or to the Permanent Court of International Justice.

Herr Hitler alleges as his justification for breaking the Locarno Treaty that the Franco-Russian Pact of Mutual Assistance, signed in May last year and now on the point of ratification by France, is a contravention of the Locarno Treaty.

Apart from the question whether the conclusion by France of a Pact in contravention of Locarno would justify Germany denouncing the whole Treaty, there is no clear incompatibility between Locarno and the Franco-Russian Pact.

In the Pact, France and Russia pledge one another assistance if either is attacked by another European Power. But the assistance is only to be given under procedure laid down in the League Covenant. In any case, France has offered to submit to The Hague Court the question whether or not the Pact is compatible with Locarno. The British Government have already expressed their opinion that it is compatible.

Thus Germany has broken both the Treaty of Versailles and the Locarno Treaty. She has sent troops into the demilitarised zone in defiance of Article 43 of Versailles and she has failed to submit a dispute to conciliation or arbitration in breach of Article 3 of Locarno.

II. What Are Our Obligations?

The question therefore arises, What are the rights and duties of the other signatories of Locarno, especially of France and Great Britain?

France may claim she now has the right to invade Germany. In the Locarno Treaty she undertook not to attack or invade Germany except in "the exercise of the right of legitimate defence; that is to say, resistance to a flagrant breach of Articles 42 or 43 of the Treaty of Versailles, if such breach constitutes an unprovoked act of aggression and by the assembly of armed forces in the demilitarised zone immediate action is necessary."

In Article 10 of the Covenant of the League France bound herself to respect the territorial integrity only of other members of the League, of whom Germany is no longer one. France could therefore make out a strong legal case for her right to invade Germany, on the one condition that Hitler's action of Saturday is accepted as being "an unprovoked act of aggression" and as making "immediate action" necessary. None of the treaties helps in defining these words.

What are Great Britain's obligations under the Locarno Treaty? Here is Sir John Simon, as Foreign Secretary, in Parliament on Nov. 7, 1933:

Our obligations may be summarised under four heads. First, if the Council of the League finds that a violation of the undertaking not to go to war against each other contained in Article 2 has been committed by Germany, France or Belgium, we are bound immediately to go to the assistance of the Power against whom the act complained of is directed. I observe that it is the Council of the League that has to make that finding, and in that case, as we are a permanent member of the council, our assent is necessary to any finding.

Secondly, if the Council finds that a breach of Articles 42 and 43 of the Treaty of Versailles... has been committed, we are bound to go immediately to the assistance of France or Belgium, as the case may be. There again our assent is necessary to the finding of the Council.

Thirdly, in the event of what is called a flagrant violation of one or other of the above undertakings, which really means in the case of something happening so much in a hurry that you could not call a meeting of the Council of the League, we are bound immediately to go to the help of the injured party, if we are satisfied that the violation constitutes an unprovoked act of aggression and that immediate action is necessary. In this case we are the sole judges as to whether our obligation is applicable.

Fourthly and lastly, if either France, Belgium or Germany refuses to submit a dispute to peaceful settlement or to comply with arbitral or judicial decisions, we are bound to comply with any proposals which the Council may make as to the steps to be taken. In that case our assent is necessary to any and every proposal that the Council may make.

The present case seems to be an instance of Sir John Simon's third contingency. If Britain decides that Hitler's action is "an unprovoked act of aggression" and that the presence of German troops in the Rhineland makes "immediate action" necessary, then we are bound to go to the help of France and Belgium.

III. "Going to the Help"

The next question is, What does "go to the help" of France and Belgium mean? If war had broken out, the answer would be obvious. We should be bound to fight on the side of the French and the Belgians. But war has not broken out. What is our position now?

There can be no question of sanctions such as are being applied against Italy. The only mention of "sanctions" is in Article 16 of the Covenant of the League of Nations, and the very first words of that Article are "Should any member of the League resort to war in disregard of its covenants..." Germany is not a member of the League, and she has not resorted to war.

Some guidance can be found in the Note addressed to the French Government by Sir Samuel Hoare last September. The French Government had asked to what extent they could be assured "of the immediate and effective application by this country of all the sanctions provided in Article 16 of the Covenant."

In his reply Sir Samuel Hoare made the point that the application of sanctions under Article 16 might be appropriate "as regards a positive act of unprovoked aggression," but not in the case of "the negative act of failure to fulfil the terms of a treaty." Thus the British Government apparently does not regard the failure to observe a treaty as an unprovoked act of aggression, and (under Article 4 of Locarno) we are only bound to help France and Belgium if there has been unprovoked aggression.

IV. Summary

The long and short of the whole matter, thus appears to be:

1. Germany has undoubtedly committed a flagrant breach of the Locarno Treaty.
2. Great Britain is not in any case compelled to do anything except by her own consent.
3. We have undertaken to come to the assistance of France and Belgium if in our opinion there has been an unprovoked act of aggression.
4. The British Government apparently does not regard "the negative act of the failure to fulfil the terms of a treaty" as an unprovoked act of aggression.

TRAGIC CHILDREN OF CONDEMNED NURSE

Playing on Grandpa's Farm Unaware of Mother's Death Sentence

SULLIVAN'S FIVE MONTHS OF TORTURE

Hucknall (Notts), Apr. 1. THREE happy children are enjoying a carefree holiday on their grandparents' lonely farm near here, unaware that their mother is in prison under sentence of death.

They are the children of Nurse Dorothea Waddingham, who was convicted at Nottingham Assizes of the murder of Miss Ada Baguley by morphine poisoning. Miss Baguley was a patient at Nurse Waddingham's nursing home in Devonshire, Sherwood, Nottingham.

The children, Edwin, aged nine, Allan, aged seven, and Mary, aged three, have been told that their mother is in hospital.

But while they, with childish delight, feed the cows and pigs and poultry, and ride in wagons, a grey-haired man and woman watch them with tear-filled eyes.

The kiddies are their grand-children. The condemned woman is their daughter.

"We Have Suffered" "The children are very happy here," Nurse Waddingham's father said to-day.

"While this case has been on they have been kept from school, but soon they will have to go back. However much we try to prevent them hearing about the trial, they are bound to do so sooner or later. "We have suffered a lot, but the thought of what unhappiness the news may mean to these kiddies upsets us terribly."

Nurse Waddingham was strongly recommended to mercy by the jury. Mr. R. A. Young, her solicitor, decided to appeal on her behalf. Leave to appeal was granted and the date of the execution will be automatically postponed until three weeks after the hearing of the appeal.

Nurse Waddingham has two other children. Ronald, eighteen months old, is in a home at Bagthorpe, and her four-month-old girl is in the care of a foster-mother.

"My daughter's baby was not born when this terrible business began," Mr. Waddingham declared. "Women will appreciate what that meant. And later, when the inquest was on, she was nursing this baby and looking after Ronald."

"How she bore it all is beyond me. I am sure she is not guilty of this thing."

Mr. Waddingham then paid a tribute to Ronald Joseph Sullivan, who was associated with Nurse Waddingham in running the nursing home and was charged jointly with her and acquitted.

"Sullivan has had five months of hell and has now gone away broken in health," he said. "Ever since Miss Baguley's death in September he has gone through an agony of suspense. "He felt all the time that he was under a cloud, yet he knew, of course, that he was completely innocent."

"Then came the long ordeal of the inquest with its verdict of 'Murder,' and another interval until the police court proceedings opened in the middle of February. Then the long trial which was again largely a repetition of the evidence which had been given twice before. "Small wonder that he is broken down in health."

"Throughout he has done his utmost to comfort my daughter, and before he went away he told us that he would not rest until everything humanly possible had been done to save her from the death penalty."

AMERICA LACKING WEAPONS

PLANES AND TANKS OUT OF DATE

Chicago, Apr. 6. The American Army, as far as equipment is concerned, "is still considerably behind the armies of other countries," declared the Secretary of War, Mr. George Dern, when speaking on the anniversary of America's entry into the Great War.

Mr. Dern declared: "Most of our aeroplanes are out of date... the old war-time tanks which we still possess are capable of about four miles per hour."

"We are building several hundred new planes which will at least equal the best in use by other countries. We have a few new tanks capable of forty miles an hour."

The Secretary of War added: "The anniversary of the Great War reminds us that war in any quarter of the world may sometimes involve even those nations remotely distant."

H.M.S. CORNWALL FOR HOME

REPAIRS TO COST £200,000

The decision announced in the First Lord of the Admiralty Memorandum to have H.M.S. Cornwall back in England by July to undergo large repairs will involve her leaving the China Station about the end of May. The Cornwall has served out here continuously since her completion in 1928. During the recent special fleet disposition she has been for some time at Singapore, and left there on February 8 to return to Hongkong.

Captain H. C. Phillips assumed command of the Cornwall in September last. A sum of £198,700 is set aside in the new Navy Estimates to be spent on the Cornwall up to March 31, 1937.

The Cornwall and the Kent will return to England in July and December, 1936, respectively to undergo large repairs.

The Dorsetshire will return home early in 1937 to refit and recommission.

On completion, all the above ships will return to the China Station; in the meantime a cruiser will be sent from Home waters for service in the China Squadron, leaving in September, 1936.

STREET BOYS' CLUB

MEMBER COMMENDED BY BENCH

Sentence of six months' hard labour and twelve strokes of the birch, and, if found unfit, an additional two months' hard labour, was imposed by Mr. Schofield, at the Central Magistracy this morning, on Chan Mau, unemployed, aged 20 years, who pleaded guilty to a charge of snatching a leather handbag, containing $10.50 in money, a fountain pen and toilet articles, to the total value of $23.20, from Cheng Siu-wa, married woman, aged 34 years, at Queen's Road West, yesterday morning.

Mak Shu-leung, a shoe-maker, aged 20 years, who is a member of the Street Boys' Club, was commended by Mr. Schofield for having made the arrest of the defendant after a long chase in Wing Lok Street. Mr. Schofield also requested Detective Sergeant Kinneer to bring Mak's action to the notice of the head of the Street Boys' Club.

The complainant was walking in Queen's Road West, near the Kowloon Theatre about 11.30 a.m. yesterday. She was carrying her handbag and a parcel containing a piece of cloth in her right hand. Defendant came from behind, put his right hand over her shoulder and snatched both the handbag and the parcel. He ran along Queen's Road into Queen Street and then into Wing Lok Street, pursued by the complainant, who raised the alarm. The witness, Mak, took up the chase and caught defendant at the end of Wing Lok Street. The property was recovered. Defendant was taken to the West Point Police Station by the witness himself.

SAILORS CAUSE DISTURBANCE

CHITS TORN UP WITHOUT PAYING

John Walter Macrae, 34, unemployed seaman, who is on his way to England, appeared before Mr. Balfour at the Central Police Court this morning, charged with being drunk and disorderly and with damaging the uniform cap of Chinese constable C682. The defendant was bound over in the sum of $150 to be of good behaviour for one year and ordered to pay $2.17 amends on the second count.

Sub-Inspector Saboy stated that the defendant with five others went to the Hotel Cecil yesterday morning and after ordering two rounds of drinks went outside and tore up the chits without paying. The hotel management was not pressing for payment. It required two Chinese and an Indian constable to take defendant to the station. On the way, the defendant used filthy language and damaged one of the constable's caps.

DISCUSSION AT Y.M.C.A.

To Be Led By Rev. McLean

The Y.M.C.A. Literary and Debating Society's series of discussions on the subject "Is the World All Right?" will conclude to-morrow evening when the Rev. W. McLean will present the "Religious and Social Point of View."

All members are heartily invited to attend the reading room at 9 o'clock to participate in this discussion which promises to be one of the most interesting of the series.

Other angles to the subject which have been previously debated are "Educational," "Finance and Economics," and "General Survey," which furnished the introduction to the series. There have been encouraging attendances at all meetings but it is hoped that even more will be present to assist in a successful winding up of an interesting season.

NEW VATICAN JAIL HAS A SHOWER BATH

Vatican City, Apr. 1.

MEDIAEVAL dungeons of the Vatican have been replaced by the smallest and most modern prison in the world.

The prison will be officially opened to-morrow. It consists of only two cells, to be used for the detention of Vatican prisoners.

The prison looks on to a courtyard, and is fitted with shower baths, hospital, and even a covered walk, suggested by the Pope, so that prisoners could take exercise in the rain without getting wet.

There are no inmates for the prison yet. No one has been incarcerated in the Vatican prison for a year.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

THE SPOKEN WORD ONCE UTTERED FLIES ABROAD NEVER TO BE RECALLED—Horace.

A fine of $30, with the alternative of three weeks' hard labour, was imposed by Mr. Balfour at the Central Magistracy this morning on each of three women, Li Kuen, Pan See and Li Lan, admitted keeping six brothels at 2, Swatow Lane, 9, Wanchai Road, and 4, Swatow Lane, respectively. Sub-Inspector T. K. Whelan prosecuted.

The plaintiff failed to appear at the Supreme Court this morning. Mrs. J. Watson, 13, Hillwood Road, appeared to answer a claim for $36 for work done and material supplied in December last. Plaintiff was Walter Shillito Vaughan Curtis, Engineer, trading as the Duro Pump and Engineering Company. Mr. Justice J. J. Hayden threw out the writ.

Lam San-choi, 36, unemployed, was charged before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning with having attempted to steal four iron bars at the junction of Boundary Street and Leichukok Road yesterday, and with cutting and wounding Chung Yik, 37, brickmaker, and causing him grievous bodily harm. Detective-Sergeant C. Goodwin stated that complainant was suffering from five stab wounds which had apparently been inflicted with a knife. Defendant was remanded for one week.

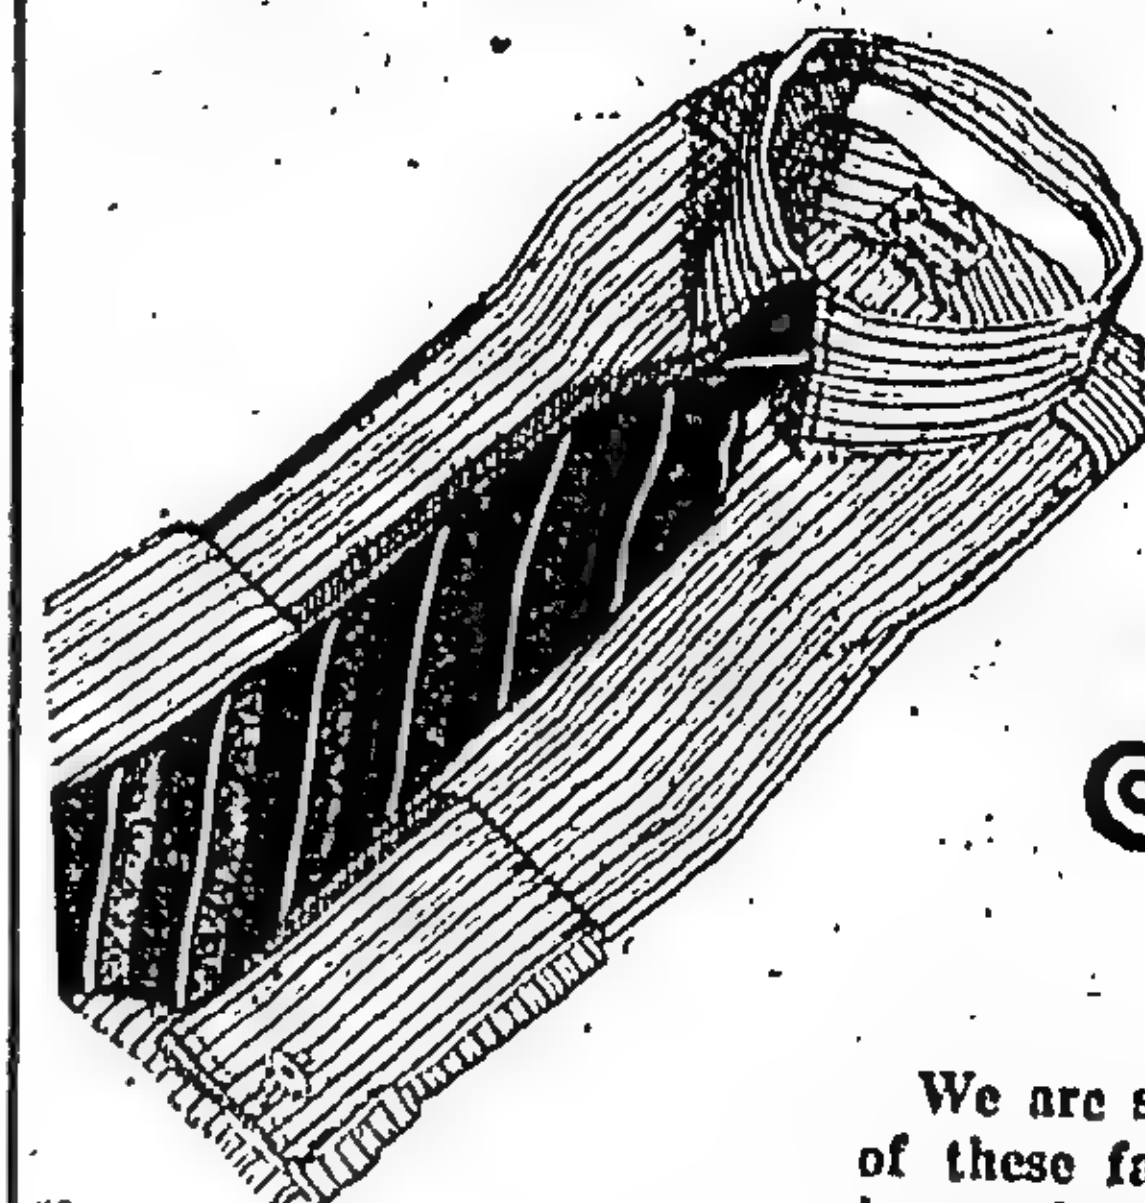

Yip Hui-choi, 25, unemployed, was sentenced to twelve months' hard labour by Mr. Balfour at the Central Magistracy this morning on charges of the theft of clothing from Suiyung Pun Market and returning from banishment. Sergeant T. R. Hunter, of Upper Levels-Police Station, stated the defendant was caught in the act of stealing at 2.30 on Sunday morning. He was wearing a jacket and a pair of trousers that had been removed from the basket. Kwan Yuk, 30, unemployed, was sent to prison for six months on a charge of returning to Hongkong after being deported for five years in 1933. Sub-Inspector Saboy prosecuted.

The theft of 35 ducks' kidneys from the doorway of 116 Queen's Road Central, was admitted by Wong Yee, 30, coolie, when he appeared before Mr. Balfour at the Central Police Court this morning and was bound over. Sub-Inspector Saboy stated that defendant was seen to steal.

Lam Shui-hing, 17, street sleeper, who assaulted another street sleeper, Chung Suk-wei, in the side lane near the General Post Office, was bound over by Mr. Balfour at the Central Police Court this morning, as was also the complainant. Detective Sergeant J. Shepherd said complainant was discharged from hospital this morning. He suffered only slight abrasions.

Lok Shing, 24, unemployed, was sentenced to seven months' hard labour by Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning when he admitted returning to the Colony after having been banished only last month for ten years. Chan Yuen, 23, who was similarly charged with a breach of a Deportation Order dated October 9, 1935, was sentenced to 12 months' hard labour. He admitted two previous convictions for the same offence. Inspector Ellis stated that both men were arrested on information yesterday.

Admitting possession of 35 tacks of raw opium at the Kowloon-Canton Railway Station on April 4, Pan Pak-lung, 30, unemployed, was fined $350, with the alternative of three months' hard labour, by Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. Revenue Officer O'Neill stated that defendant was arrested coming off the Canton express, and the opium was found concealed at the bottom of a basket under some fruit. Wong Chik, 24, unemployed, admitted the possession of 200 heroin pills at Tainan Street at the Kowloon Magistracy to-day and a fine of $100, or, in default six weeks' hard labour, was imposed. Inspector Ellis stated that defendant was found to have the pills when he was searched by an Emergency Unit picket.

TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP

LOSE GALLANTLY LO BROTHERS

FINCHER & HUNG
PULL THROUGH

M.W. IN FORM

(By "Veritas")

When after the open doubles semi-final match on the stand court yesterday Teddy Fincher complained that he had been unable to see the ball one could find it easy to accept this as a reasonable excuse for his comparatively unimpressive form. General conditions, in fact, were so wretched and depressing that one not only felt sorry for the players, but at the same time realised how extremely well they had performed.

As generally anticipated Fincher and W. C. Hung beat M. K. and M. W. Lo in straight sets of 6-4, 7-5, 6-2. Yet the honours went to the losers whose defeat was one of the most honourable ever seen in the Colony championships. Behind the losers' every stroke and movement lay the insidious reminder that they had to conserve their stamina. It became a coercive brake on their natural desire to force the exchanges, so that seldom were they able to go wholeheartedly into the attack.

MASTERY DEFENCE

Their greatness lay in their mastery of defensive tennis: mastery in its cunning and accuracy which continually converted losing positions into winning points. M. W. Lo was the most entertaining of the four players, his remarkably quick eye and fine sense of anticipation permitting him to pick up smashes and fast volleys and make good returns. His driving, apart from the normal lapses which must occur over three hard sets, was severe and penetrating. It searched out the weak spots in the winners' volleying, luring them into false strokes, raiding their feet against such a net-raiding pair as Fincher and Hung the one-up-one-back tactics employed with success against Kong and Lai would be suicidal, the Lo brothers accordingly changed their methods, and as far as possible played the square formation. This, of course, entailed extra physical effort and it had a visible effect on M. K. Lo during the long rallies, especially as the opposition concentrated as far as possible on him, and made him cover a tremendous amount of territory.

M. K. Lo showed a grand fighting spirit, and although weak on the volley, was steady off the ground, getting fine oblique angles on his cross-court drives, and generally speaking obtaining effective length on his lobs.

UNLUCKY BROTHERS

The losers had such a fine spell in the opening of the second set that they went to 4-1 and looked good for the stanza. Then, in the sixth game (Continued on Page 9.)

PAUL KONG PLAYS RUMJAHN

4.30 To-Day

(By "Veritas")

Unless Paul Kong pulls something very unexpected out of the bag, this afternoon should see S. A. Rumjahn reach the semi-final of the open singles championship. One must concede this in Kong's favour: he is infinitely a better singles than a doubles player. Furthermore it is well to bear in mind that once upon a time he was good enough to represent China in the Davis Cup and was recognised as one of the best three players in Shanghai.

Now that they have rid themselves of the doubles championship burden, both Rumjahn and Kong can concentrate on the singles. Sidor will do his utmost to-day to win in two sets because the oppressive weather is not conducive to pleasurable lengthy matches: and Kong will have to strike some very good form to stop him.

TUESDAY

Open Singles (Fourth Round)

S. A. Rumjahn v Paul Kong (Stand Court).

Club Handicap Singles (Third Round)

A. F. L. Bowker (Str.) v J. Thompson (11/6).

(Fourth Round)

V. H. Gordon (Str.) v M. Pugh (15/2).

Club Handicap Doubles (Second Round)

G. W. Sewell and H. J. Armstrong (15/2)

E. Hahurst and A. T. Lee (15/2).

G. O. ALLEN IS FIT

During the past 12 months, G. O. Allen has frequently been mentioned as the probable captain of the team to Australia this year, provided, of course, he is fit. It is interesting, therefore, to note that he will soon commence practice at Alan Fairfax's cricket school. Allen told Fairfax that he is convinced that he has recovered from the leg trouble which has interfered with his cricket, and he is most anxious to make the trip to Australia.

Dropped Catch Cost Army Valuable League Point

NAVY CRICKET TALENT

(By R. Abbit)

During Saturday and Sunday last I saw more amusing and bright cricket than I have done for ages. It started off with the first league game at King's Park where the Navy were very unfortunate to have a couple of their best batsmen away, as Branwell was on duty and Bartley sick.

The Army batted first and Persse, who now has assumed the position of opening batsman with Bill Williams, made 28 of the 31 runs scored for the first wicket. Actually I gather he made 32 of them, but was bowled by a bit mixed. Dawson then joined Williams and 26 runs were put on before the latter got in front of one from Hargreaves, which straightened up.

Dawson had been going quietly along and, with Garthwaite in, another 28 were put on before he was bowled by Hargreaves. Then came the stand of the innings when Colonel Lightfoot, an old friend of ours, who played for the Colony in (I think) 1927, joined Garthwaite and helped put on 70 runs most of which the latter got before he was caught by Davis for a nice and rapid sixty-seven.

Prichard played some nice shots, though he has an extraordinary wrist flick at the very end of a shot just when he seems to be hanging him out on the off but at times seems to work very well. He was a bit slow, considering the state of the game, but Lightfoot bricked up a lot and played a most useful innings.

Incidentally, I was considerably amused to see him playing for the Army in a league game, after playing a league game for the Club on the Saturday before. I mention this merely in jest, as nobody cared a bit and anyway he could, of course, have got the necessary permission from the League under the circumstances. But, as he somewhat cheerfully remarked when I pointed out the enormity of his offence, he did not the slightest idea that either of these decisions was a league game match. He is of course an Army player and only turned out for the Club owing to their great difficulty in raising a side.

A BIG TASK

But to resume, Watch held on rather long, I think, to take the score to 208 for seven wickets. The runs had been made in almost even tempo but no doubt he was influenced by the fact that there was an extra quarter of an hour for play—the game taking place in April! He declared at 4.20 and the Navy should have had just two hours batting but the superior attraction of tea—presumably made the interval last seven minutes too long. The Navy thus had one hour and fifty-three minutes to score 209 runs. A not impossible but extremely difficult task, even if Ballard was the longer in the Army side, for the ground is a very large one though admittedly on Saturday the ball travelled very fast on it.

THE NAVY BAT

The innings was opened by Eng. Com. Davis and Lt. Davis (I understand they are no relation!) and they seemed to be settling down nicely against the bowling of Garthwaite and Corp. Whitehead. Garthwaite was obviously swinging, having the benefit of a third-man wind, and Whitehead was bringing them back from the off.

In Garthwaite's first over Lt. Davis was very nearly caught at square leg, and in his fourth over the Engineer Commander got a nasty smack on his glove which went up behind where second slip would have been if he had not been at fine leg! Again no one seemed able to get to it, and owing to the fore-shortened view of what happened when one looked from the Pavilion end, it is difficult to say whether it should or should not have been caught.

In Whitehead's next over he at last managed to get in a really good length ball which turned in a good bit and bowled the Engineer. (Really it is most awkward having two people of the same name in!) I think he might have smothered it had he come out at it, because it was definitely not short of a length and with his reach he might have smothered it. (20-1-0).

At this period it was misting damply and was heavily cold. Nothing but the presence of about five feet of engaging dachshund (I know I can't spell it but Sunie is a pal of mine anyway), belonging to Garthwaite saved one poor sailor from getting frost-bitten knees.

A BAD BUSINESS

Just after Garthwaite who was having no luck, even if his dog

was, had Davis badly dropped at square leg. I do not think I am being unfair to the Navy when I say that the match was lost when that chance went begging. Of course, as usual, Davis could do nothing wrong after that, and he really played an excellent knock. It is rather tragic that it is only at the end of the season we are beginning to discover how much batting the Navy has.

Whitehead restored some hope when he bowled Surgeon-Lt. Davenport who was playing very straight. The ball was a very similar one to that which bowled the Engineer Commander. (Yes—I know—the papers got it wrong! Whitehead bowled Kirkwood!)

A STOUT STAND

Kirkwood who also plays a nice straight bat and like Davenport, has plenty of reach and power, came along and then we began to see a drop of cricket and I almost forgot how cold I was.

The newcomer straight-drove Garthwaite for four and Prichard relieved him, while from the other end Davis twice square cut Whitehead though an over later he appeared to be dropped at the wicket. There was a general appeal but "Ze ball 'e do" was not a "Ze ball 'e do" by being on the ground. Elvin then went on for Whitehead, and it was obvious that Welch, secure in his large total, was gambling probable runs against a possible wicket. But it was the runs that came, and after a slow start (as runs were on the board after an hour's play). Finally when the pair had put on 47 runs Prichard managed to pull out his off break and bowled Kirkwood with a very good length ball that fizzed off. 74-3-23.

FEEL FIT

AUSSIE DAVIS CUPPERS

TRAINING GAIN

Sydney, Mar. 16.
Jack Crawford—lost half a stone.
Cliff Sproule—lost ten lb.
Vivian McGrath—an increase of 4 lb.

That is the weight chart of the three members of the Australian Davis Cup tennis team, who have been in training at the Royal Sydney Golf Links for a little over a fortnight. They will remain there until their departure for U.S.A. at the end of this month.

To-day they were joined by the fourth member of the team, Adrian Quist, who has not yet fully recovered from an operation to the right jawbone following trouble from a tooth.

"NEVER FELT BETTER"

The loss of weight by Crawford and Sproule has not weakened them in any way, but has increased their vim. Sproule announced: "I never felt better in my life." He could say the same of Crawford, who was enjoying the training campaign more than any other member of the team. Neither Sproule nor Crawford will lose more than another pound or so, as both are close to their correct "fighting weight." McGrath, before he went "into camp" was far from well, but his improvement in training is astonishing.

"We are going to bring that cup back. If this training has anything to do with it," said Sproule, as he left with Quist for Rose Bay.

AMERICAN ZONE FINAL

Will Be Played On Grass

Should U.S.A. and Australia win the first round of their Davis Cup matches against Mexico and Cuba respectively, the final of the American zone will be played at the Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia, commencing on May 30.

This announcement was made by the United States Lawn Tennis Association, which has also tentatively selected its team for the American-Mexico match. It is: W. Allison, J. D. Budge, G. Makin, B. Grant, and John Van Ryn. The schedule for the match between Australia and Cuba has not yet been fixed.

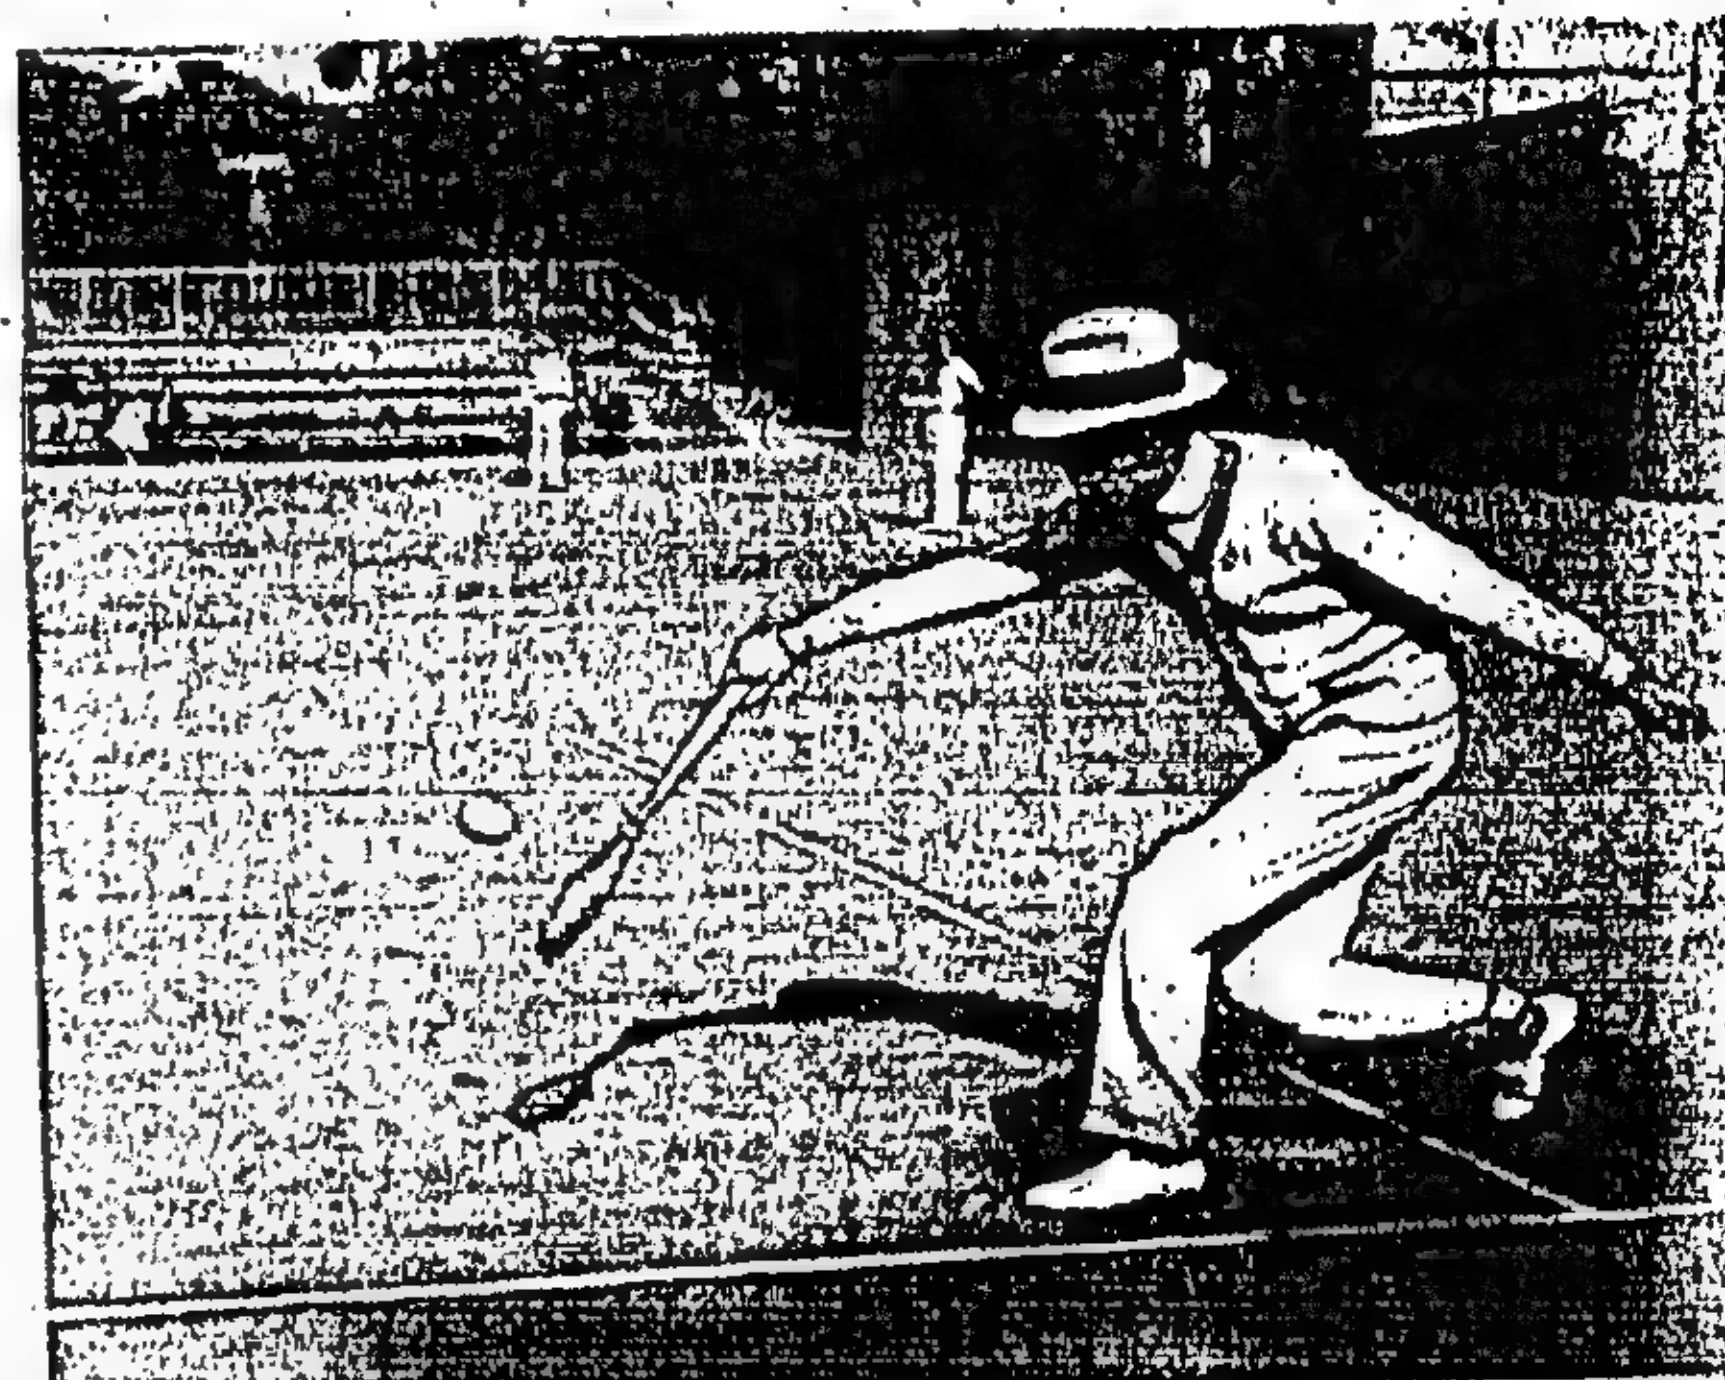

PERRY SETS "COMEBACK" TRAIL BY WINNING TWO TITLES

Cannes, Apr. 6.

Fred Perry, Wimbledon champion, who once ruled all the far flung amateur tennis courts in the world, has set about his "comeback" in typical fashion and by his performance in the Cannes tournament which closed to-day, is well on the way to recovering that peak form at which he is aiming in order to assist Britain to retain the Davis Cup this year.

Perry won two titles during the week-end. Playing with King Gustav of Sweden, he annexed the Cannes men's doubles championship, he and King Gustav beating Stanton Young and E. Williams of England in straight sets of 8-6, 6-4.

Perry also won the singles title after a fine four-sets match with Max Ellmer, Swiss Davis Cup exponent. Perry won 10-8, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.—United Press.

Powerful Rugby League Test Team For Australia

ENGLAND PICKS THE BEST

Fine Set Of Forwards

The critics are sure to approve of the Rugby League team selected to tour Australia. The team will leave England on April 17.

The notable omission is that of Bennett, the coloured five-eighth. Doubtless, despite reassurances from Australia, the Rugby League administrators decided not to risk criticism by his inclusion.

The general opinion here is that Bennett is the best five-eighth produced by the Rugby League in Britain for ten years. There is no doubt that Sullivan, Morley, Stanley Smith, Atkinson, Fred Harris, Brogden and McCue, provided they retain their English form, are certain for the Test games in Australia. Though inclined to "go easy" in club games, Atkinson is still a big match player and will probably be reserved for the Tests.

The experts believe that McCue is at least equal to Thicknesse.

MEN OF SPEED

It is apparent that the selectors had in mind Australian conditions in selecting the forwards, who are nearly all men of speed, clever handlers and good both in the loose and in the tight scrums. The weight, in the scrum, compares well with that of previous English sides.

THE FULL TEAM

Full-backs: J. Sullivan (Wigan), captain; J. Brough (Leeds). Wingers: J. C. Morley (Wigan), B. Hudson (Salford), S. Smith (Leeds), A. Edwards (Salford). Centres: Fred Harris (Leeds), A. Atkinson (Castleford), G. Rimmer (Salford), W. Bebban (Liverpool Stanley). Five-eighths: C. Jenkins (Salford), S. Brogden (Leeds). Halves: J. Watkins (Salford), A. McCue (Widnes). Hookers: J. Field (Wakefield), A. Arnott (Bewton). Forwards: N. Silecock (Widnes), A. Miller (Warrington), A. L. Jones (Keighley), L. A. Trap (Harrow), J. Arkwright (Warrington), M. Hodgson (Bewton), A. Exley (Wakefield), H. Beverley (Hunslet), J. Eberington (Hull), H. Woods (Liverpool).

Harris should develop into one of the stars of the side. He is daring and unorthodox.

There are some doubts whether Jenkins, who is very brilliant, can stand a strenuous tour, but he is sure to please the spectators. Feather, though considered the most outstanding loose forward in England, was left out. It is understood, because it was thought that he was not rugged enough.

All the forwards have a reputation for being determined, hard-working and fearless players.

BASEBALL RESULTS

The following are the results of Saturday's matches in the Pacific Coast baseball league. Seattle 7, San Diego 0; Los Angeles 1, Oakland 6; Portland 5, Missions 0.

Horton Smith Wins Big Golf Tourney

BOBBY JONES'S FAILURE

Augusta, Geo. Apr. 6. Horton Smith, winner in 1934, won the Augusta National golf tournament here to-day when he aggregated 285 for the four rounds. His figures were 74, 71, 88, and 72.

Harry Cooper with returns of 70, 69, 71, 76, and a total of 286 was placed second, while Gene Sarazen, 73, 67, 72, 70, total 282, was third. Bobby Jones failed to produce anything like his old form and was well down the list of returns with rounds of 78, 78, 73, and 77, aggregating 306.—Reuter.

POPULAR DOCTOR LEAVING

DR. J. C. MACGOWN GOING HOME

The Colony will be losing one of its most esteemed residents and most popular apothecaries tomorrow, when Dr. J. C. Macgown, principal of the medical firm of Macgown, Anderson and Durran, leaves for Home by the Blue Funnel liner, Hector. Dr. Macgown, who intends settling down in practice at Home, will be accompanied by his wife and their two children, Miss Heather Macgown and Master Sandy Macgown.

Dr. Macgown, who has resided in the Colony for many years, is one of Hongkong's best-known and most skilled medical practitioners. A man of sterling character, he has been prominently associated with the social and sporting life of the Colony, and has also figured as an enthusiastic official of the Hongkong St. Andrew's Society, of which he is President. He is a keen amateur rider and owner, being Chairman of the Fanning Hunt Race Club and Steward of the Jockey Club. Under his own name he has had a string of ponies participating in the races both at Happy Valley and Kowloon, and at the latter course he was always one of the leading steeplechasers. He is also a keen amateur airman. Dr. Macgown has also been an ardent volunteer, holding the rank of Major in the Medical Section of the Defence Corps whilst from 1914 to 1918 he was on service in the Great War. Apart from his firm's professional work, Dr. Macgown has been on the consulting staff of the Memorial and Affiliated Hospitals and a member of the New Territories medical benevolent branch of the St. John Ambulance Brigade. He has also been principal medical officer of China Underwriters, Ltd.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Macgown, by their charm of personality and social qualities, have made numerous friends, who will wish them all health, happiness and prosperity in the Old Country.

GIVEN BENEFIT OF DOUBT

HEROIN PILL CASE NOT PROVED

The remand case in which two women, Ng See, 18, and Li Kiu, 19, were charged with the possession of 71,500 heroin pills on the third floor of 63, Lockhart Road, Wanchai, was concluded before Mr. Balfour at the Central Police Court this morning. At the previous hearing it was stated that Ng See was employed as an amah five or six days prior to the raid on March 14 and that the mistress, Chan Ping, was absent. Li Kiu was invited to stay on the premises the previous night as Ng See was lonely. Revenue Officer A. W. Grimmit, for the prosecution, submitted that there was a case against the defendants, especially the first defendant, Ng See, as she must have known that the heroin pills paraphernalia was in the front cubicle. She was also in possession of the keys to the flat. Mr. F. I. Grimmit, for the defence, submitted that the prosecution had not proved that the defendants were in possession of the pills. The only evidence was that they were on the premises. The Magistrate remarked that he was going to give the defendants the benefit of the doubt, and discharged them both.

The heroin pills and paraphernalia were confiscated.

CHINESE VAGRANT CHARGED

EXPULSION ORDER SOUGHT

Remarking that he did not want to make an expulsion order until he was quite sure what the defendant was, Mr. Balfour, at the Central Magistrate's Court this morning, committed Mong Sing, 25, Burmese, to the House of Detention, on a charge of vagrancy. The defendant pleaded guilty to entering the Colony without a valid passport.

Detective Sergeant P. H. Loughlin stated that defendant had no passport at all. He must have represented himself as a Chinese at the shipping company, otherwise he would not have been issued with a ticket. The defendant's story was that he came to Hongkong from Rangoon on March 26, with a Chinese who was selling precious stones and stayed with him. One evening, defendant went out for a walk and was unable to find his way back again. He still did not know the whereabouts of the residence. The police were asking for an expulsion order and stated that defendant would be sent to Rangoon at the Government's expense.

Vienna, Apr. 6.

The Governments of the Little Entente have handed to Austria a note protesting against the introduction of compulsory national service, on the ground that it is a violation of the military clauses of the Treaty of St. Germain. They reserve the right to announce later measures to be taken for the preservation of their interests.

It is officially announced that the Austrian Government does not intend to react to the protest, which is regarded more as a warning to Hungary and Bulgaria not to follow Austria's example than anything else.—Reuter.

Washington, Apr. 6. The Securities Exchange Commission in the Supreme Court to-day lost its long struggle to compel Mr. Edward Jones, a New York dealer in old stocks, to testify concerning a statement of proposed securities issues.

However, the Supreme Court did not rule on the constitutionality of the Securities Act of 1935. Mr. Jones had challenged the Securities Act, as unconstitutional after a lower court had upheld it, and ruled that Mr. Jones should be forced to testify.—Reuter.

The chief beneficiaries under his will are his wife, daughter and son-in-law.—Reuter's Special.

NOT SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE

WATCH THEFT NOT PROVED

Remarking that it sounded as if there was not enough evidence, Mr. Macfadyen discharged Ma Yu, 32, unemployed, when he appeared at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court this morning on a charge of the theft by finding of a watch belonging to Mr. M. H. Large, Inspector of the Star Ferry Company. Detective-Sergeant Riddell stated that yesterday complainant was chasing coolies away from the entrance of the Star Ferry wharf at Salisbury Road when the strap of his watch snapped and the watch fell to the ground, but he did not notice it. Mr. Silva, who was nearby, saw the watch fall to the ground and saw defendant pick it up, put it in his pocket and walk away. Defendant stated that he had just picked the watch up and intended giving it to the police.

UNEMPLOYMENT FIGURES

BRITAIN

London, April 6. The number of unemployed in Britain on March 23 totalled 1,881,531, which is 143,490 less than in the previous month and 272,359 less than a year ago. Unemployment insured persons in Britain now number 10,630,000, which is 411,000 more than a year ago.—Reuter Special.

GENERAL IMPROVEMENT

London, Apr. 6. Continued economic improvement is evidenced in the latest unemployment returns, which show an increase of employment in the great majority of the principal industries. The Ministry of Labour estimates that on March 23 there were approximately 10,630,000 insured persons in employment. This was 155,000 more than a month before and 411,000 more than the year before. At the same time, the numbers of unemployed on the registers were 1,331,531, comprising 1,500,574 wholly unemployed, 235,280 temporarily laid off and 85,677 normally in casual employment. The total is 143,490 less than on February 24 and 272,359 less than at the corresponding date of 1935.—British Wireless.

THEATRE TICKET FIGHT

TWO YOUNG MEN BOUND OVER

Yu Sik-keo, 21, theatre attendant, and Ip Yung, 18, unemployed, were both bound over in the sum of $50 to keep the peace for one year, when they appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court this morning, charged with behaving in a disorderly manner by fighting at Shantung Street near Portland Street yesterday.

Detective-Sergeant Ellis stated that the case was one in which people bought tickets at the Portland Cinema when there was a good picture showing and sold them in order to make one or two cents profit. There were no police witnesses in the case.

First defendant stated that he was an attendant at the Portland Theatre, and he had a quarrel with second defendant who had gone to the theatre to buy tickets.

Second defendant alleged that he went to buy a ticket and he was assaulted by first accused and a number of other men.

Two widows, Leung Mei, 57, and Ng Kwong-kai, 34, who were charged with fighting at Hau Wong village yesterday, were bound over in the sum of $50 each to keep the peace for one year.

Inspector Chester-Woods stated that second defendant was the concubine of a distant relative of first defendant. Yesterday first defendant went to visit second accused and accused her of being a "husband snatcher," and that was the cause of the fight. It was alleged that second accused used a chopper, but the police doubted this. It was also alleged that first defendant used a piece of wood in the fight.

DOG-OWNERS FINED

MORE CASES FROM KOWLOON

A number of dog-owners were summoned before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistrate's Court for various offences.

G. Meyer, of No. 225, Prince Edward Road, admitted a summons for having a dog without a licence and was fined $15. He stated that he had had the dog only three weeks and it had since been destroyed.

Mr. Rowe, of No. 43, Granville Road, Kowloon Tong, was fined a total of $10 on two summonses for keeping two bitches and a dog without a licence on March 18. Defendant's representative, who admitted the summonses, stated that it had been thought that the licences were to be renewed in June.

Admitting a similar summons J. W. Cooper, of No. 90B Nathan Road, was fined $5. Mr. Kojima, of No. 7 Ashley Road, ground floor, admitted a similar summons for keeping two dogs and was fined a total of $5. A fine of $8 was also imposed upon A. W. D. Eca, of No. 25 Cameron Road, for the same offence.
